The University of Illinois

The University of Illinois

Every day across the state, people are in touch with the University of Illinois. In the public schools, students and teachers are sharing science information on the College of Education's computerized Science Network; professional engineers are studying advanced techniques through satellite and videotaped instruction offered by the College of Engineering; police officers and fire fighters are putting into practice the skills they learned at the University's Police Training and Fire Service institutes; and legislators and business executives are consulting University experts on issues ranging from consumer safety to capital expansion.

Too often we limit our understanding of the University to "four years in college." Acquiring knowledge is a lifelong process, and much of the teaching and learning takes place off campus. Through the Cooperative Extension Service, for example, the University manages programs in agriculture, urban and rural revitalization, youth development, and more—taking knowledge into homes and work places throughout the state and serving an estimated 700,000 citizens annually. Through the Office of Continuing Education and Public Service, the University offers regular academic courses off campus and via correspondence, and maintains professional development programs with business and industry, social agencies, schools, professional societies, and government officials.

Along with teaching and public service, the University of Illinois focuses on research. Here the traditional sciences and humanities contribute both new discoveries and new interpretations of existing knowledge. One stunning research breakthrough occasionally leads to other discoveries, such as when the theory of superconductivity and the discovery of transistors led to magnetic resonance imaging—technologies pioneered by

The Illini Union, at one end of the Quad, contains a bowling alley, pool tables, video games, a computer room, cafeteria and several meeting rooms.

University professors and now used widely for medical diagnoses and an array of other practical applications. More often the research contributes pieces to a larger puzzle. One answer opens the door to new questions, and less dramatic discoveries accrue over a period of time. A five-year comprehensive study in the 1980s, for example, collected an enormous amount of detailed data from Soviet émigrés about the Soviet Union: the information is expected to yield results well into the 1990s. As another example, the countless small research advances at the University's College of Agriculture helped place the United States among the world's leading food exporters.

Where it is possible campus facilities serve both academic and public uses. A major center for the arts, the campus attracts dozens of nationally and internationally renowned artists each year to its widely acclaimed Krannert Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by alumnus Max Abramovitz, and architect of New York City's Lincoln Center, the facility has four indoor theaters and an outdoor amphitheater. Together, they host more than 300 performances each year, including those by major symphony orchestras, classical and modern ballet companies and individual artists, such as Luciano Pavarotti, Jean-Pierre Rampal and Isaac Stern.

The University also supports three major museums: the Krannert Museum, second only to the Art Institute of Chicago among Illinois Public art museums; the World Heritage Museum; and the Museum of Natural History.

The University's Willard Airport complex houses the Institute of Aviation and offers air connections from central Illinois to locations throughout the country. And facilities such as residence halls and sports arenas find off-season uses hosting conferences, high school marching bands, and civic events.

Central to all of the University's work is the library, a prized campus resource and one of the best library systems in the world. Its size of more than 15 million items and ready access to holdings through the computerized catalog attract scholars from all over the world. Several dozen specialized collections offer students and professors in-depth research support and contain a number of items that are simply not available elsewhere. Only Harvard and Yale have larger collections.

Taken together, the professors and students at the University of Illinois are an impressive knowledge resource. Undergraduates bring fresh perspectives the University as they begin looking at facts and exploring possibilities. About 26,000 highly qualified undergraduates enroll in 10 colleges at Illinois. The divisions include the College of Agriculture, College of Applied Life Studies, College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communications, College of Education, College of Engineering, College of Fine and Applied Arts, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Institute of Aviation and School of Social Work.

In a recent freshman class, students in the middle 50 percent had ACT scores between 24 and 28.

In addition to their own in-depth studies, graduate students often help teach and advise undergraduates on their concerns, even as they work with more established researchers to deepen their own knowledge.

And professors at Illinois, among the most respected scholars in the world, bring the results of their ongoing research into the classroom and make their results known to a wide audience through consulting, lectures, and publishing.

A measure of the Illinois faculty's excellence is the number of professors honored by prestigious institutions.

More than 70 faculty members belong to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Science, or the National Academy of Engineering. Together the students and professors participate in the ancient exercise of transferring knowledge—and at a world-class university like Illinois, they're helping to define the boundaries of knowledge itself.

Illinois graduates excel in every professional field from sciences to business to politics to the arts. Among Illinois' graduates are film critic and television star Roger Ebert.

First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton received an honorary degree and was the commencement speaker at Illinois' 1994 spring graduation.

astronaut Steve Nagel, Walt Disney Studios president Rich Frank, former labor secretary Lynn Martin and Pittsburgh Pirates president Mark Sauer.

Since its founding in 1867, the University of Illinois has been teaching students to transfer advanced knowledge to a new generation; undertaking research to explore the outer edges of human knowledge; and performing public service so that everyone enjoys the results of current scholarship and new discoveries. Over the years, an enormous number of people have played some part in the University of Illinois. That would please the educational and political leaders of the last century, who envisioned a new kind of university founded on the democratic principle that everyone should benefit from access to higher education and from the University's resources.

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has earned a reputation as an institution of international stature. Its distinguished faculty, outstanding resources, breadth of academic programs and research disciplines and large and diverse student body constitute an educational community ideally suited for scholarship and research.

Located in east-central Illinois in the two cities of Urbana-Champaign (population 110,000), the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is the state of Illinois' flagship public university.

The Illini Union looks out over the Quad and Foellinger Auditorium.

Did you know . . .

- . . . More than 95 percent of University of Illinois seniors seeking employment obtain positions within eight months graduation; nearly 50 percent do so before graduation?
- . . . Some of the most popular majors at the University of Illinois are: accounting, electrical engineering, architecture, biology, psychology and agricultural economics?
- . . . In 1994, Fiske Guide to Colleges gave the University of Illinois a five-star rating in academics? Edward Fiske called the University of Illinois "a giant among academic institutions, ranking among the nation's great universities."
- . . . UIUC was the top choice of 1991 graduating seniors in an informal survey of 10 Chicago-area high schools?
- . . . The University of Illinois administers an extensive study-abroad program? More than 600 Illinois students study abroad each year in nearly 40 countries, including Japan, Brazil, Great Britain and China.
- . . . UIUC's undergraduate and graduate accounting programs were rated best in the nation in a 1992 survey of colleges and accounting department chairmen conducted by Public Accounting Report, a privately circulated newsletter published in Atlanta?
- . . . The results of a survey conducted by a faculty member of the College of Journalism at the University of Maryland show that the undergraduate program in advertising at UIUC is considered the best in the country?
- . . . In 1990-91, UIUC awarded 138 bachelor's degrees and 51 Ph.D. degrees in chemistry, ranking first and third, respectively in number of degrees awarded in the country?
- . . . Illinois was named as one of the 10 best places to receive an education in agriculture by Farm Futures, the business magazine of agriculture?

Learning and participating are important outside, as well as inside, the classroom. And at the University of Illinois, the opportunities are as limitless in extracurricular arenas as they are in academic arenas.

HOUSING

First-rate residence halls with good food, the nation's largest fraternity and sorority system, independent housing and a wide range of apartments provide broad choices of where and how to live.

ACTIVITIES

More than 700 student organizations provide an outlet for every interest, from the philanthropies of Volunteer Illini Projects to the rock music of student radio station WPGU. There are more than 40 student organizations for minority interests.

SPORTS AND RECREATION

The Intramural-Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes on any campus, with four gymnasiums, 23 handball/racquetball courts, weight and exercise equipment, indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and more. The U of I has one of the most comprehensive intramural sports programs in the nation. If the great outdoors is more to your liking, the university's 1,500-acre Allerton Park includes sculpture gardens, formal gardens and natural woodlands.

CULTURE AND ENTERTAINMENT

The domed Assembly Hall seats more than 16,000 for rock concerts, ice shows, circuses, Broadway musicals and, of course, Illinois basketball. Beautifully restored Foellinger Auditorium on the Quad seats 1,750 for concerts, films and speakers. And the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, holds four theaters for plays, dance and concerts by such famed names as the Chicago Symphony and Itzhak Perlman.

OFF CAMPUS

Champaign and Urbana, with a population of 110,000, offer shopping, restaurants, movie theaters, night spots and many other big-city amenities. Yet, they retain a Midwestern college-town atmosphere.

The Intramural and Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes of its type on any college campus.

Illinois' Commitment to Success

The goal of each sports program within the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics at the University of Illinois is to strive toward success. The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics has taken a comprehensive approach to the success of the student-athlete. The PACE program (Personal Achievement in Career and Education) is designed to meet the total needs of the student-athlete. Those needs being served by the PACE program are: 1) the student's objectives as a scholar; 2) the student's requirements as an athlete, and 3) the student's personal goals as an individual.

This comprehensive balance of academic excellence, athletic achievement and personal well-being is stressed daily by the administrative staff and coaches. Inevitably, a student-athlete's playing days will end, but with the help of the UI's PACE program, each Fighting Illini athlete will be fully prepared for career and personal challenges ahead.

Among the elements stressed by the academic services department to assure student-athlete success are counseling and tutorial services, a monitoring program and a state-of-the-art computer laboratory.

Athletically, the University of Illinois has long supported a broad-based sports program. Its coaching staff and facilities are among the nation's best. The UI's support units include excellent staffs for recruiting, equipment, facility maintenance, fund raising, publicity and promotion. Its sports medicine staff not only assists student-athletes in strength training and conditioning, but also in personal health maintenance.

As important as the UI's commitment is to the student-athlete's performance in the classroom and on the field, it also considers the individual's spiritual and emotional needs, and, his/her career objectives. Fighting Illini student-athletes are afforded the opportunity to attend a variety of seminars during their collegiate experience, helping them enhance their future following athletics. Among the seminars offered are those in career placement, financial planning, time and stress management, sexual harassment, drug and alcohol education and player/agent relations.

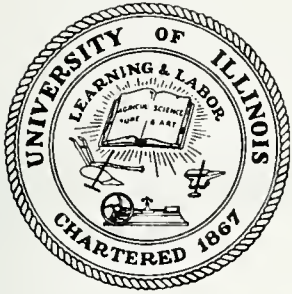

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics also sponsors a student athletic advisory board, which is made up of representatives from all 17 Fighting Illini intercollegiate athletic teams.

The strong relationships built within the vast Illinois alumni networking system provide excellent opportunities for all student-athletes, whether it be for summer jobs, internships or, ultimately, in career placement after graduation. Once the individual's career is established, the DIA asks for his/her participation in a follow-up program that allows current student-athletes to benefit from their predecessors' experiences. Former student-athletes are asked to return to campus for seminars and discussions that serve to provide guidance and understanding for future graduates.

While at the University of Illinois, student-athletes are encouraged to participate in the DIA's community-outreach program, including the "Hometown Heroes" program. It is just one part of the complete commitment to success made at the University of Illinois. This commitment to success is not a one-time event for UI student-athletes, but rather an on-going practice.

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois exercises final authority over the administration and governance of the University, within limits fixed by the Illinois Constitution and state law.

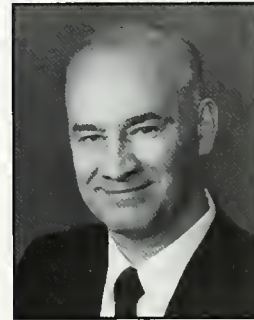

Trustees are elected statewide by the citizens of Illinois in November general elections. The nine elected members serve six-year staggered terms; three terms expire and are filled every two years. Board members serve without pay.

The governor of Illinois is an exofficio member of the board. Two students, one from each campus, serve single-year terms; student trustee votes are advisory only. The student trustees for 1994-95 are: Chris Didato-Costillo (Chicago) and Chapin Rose (Urbana-Champaign).

The president of the board is elected annually, in January, from among the elected trustees. The current president is Kenneth Boyle.

President Stanley O. Ikenberry

Stanley O. Ikenberry was appointed President of the University of Illinois in 1979. Since then he has advanced the University's triple mission of teaching, research and public service in the pursuit of the goal of making the University of Illinois the best public University in America. His leadership at Illinois is marked by an exceedingly strong commitment to the human resources of the University and to the humanizing value of the University for society.

Ikenberry has responsibility for all aspects of University operations, including campuses at Urbana-Champaign and Chicago, an enrollment of about 60,000 students, and an annual operating budget of more than $1.6 billion.

Ikenberry received his doctorate in higher education research from Michigan State University in 1960. He taught at Michigan State and at West Virginia University before joining the Center for the Study of Higher Education at Pennsylvania State University in 1969. He had risen to senior vice president when he was named president of the University of Illinois. He holds honorary degrees from Michigan State University, Millikin University, Illinois College and Rush University. He is also an honorary alumnus of Penn State.

A holder of several corporate and civic board memberships, he is past chairman of the American Council on Education and the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. He is vice chairman of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and of the executive committee of the Association of American Universities. Ikenberry led the Big Ten Presidents Council from 1987-90 and was the Big Ten representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association President's Commission.

Ikenberry lives with his wife, Judith, in the President's House in Urbana. The Ikenberrys have three sons.

Chancellor Michael T. Aiken

Michael T. Aiken became the sixth chancellor of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign July 1, 1993. Aiken is an internationally recognized sociologist who has specialized in the analysis of organizations and issues of community power and social change.

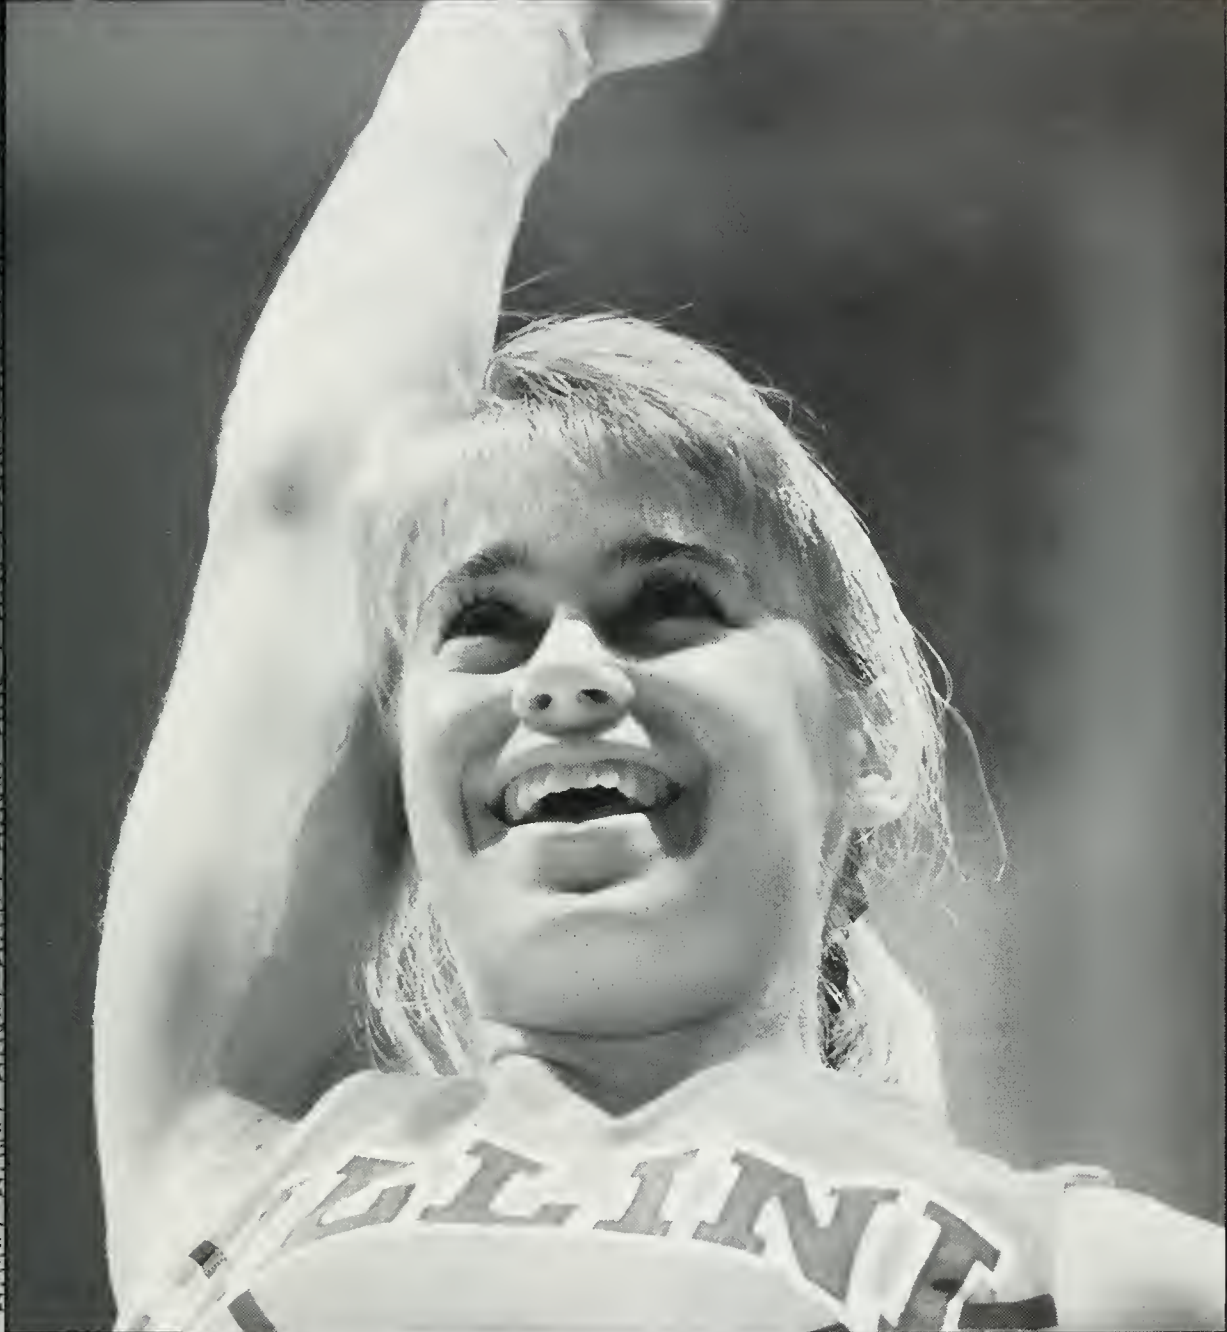

Reared in Mississippi, Aiken is a 1954 graduate of the University of Mississippi. He received his master's degree and Ph.D in sociology from the University of Michigan. From 1963 to 1984, he held faculty and administrative posts at the University of Wisconsin, with time away at Columbia University, two Belgian universities, and Washington University in St. Louis.

Before coming to Illinois, he was provost at the University of Pennsylvania, where he also had served as a faculty member in sociology, chairman in sociology, and dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

He is widely published and has been active in professional organizations, including the Midwest Sociological Society, American Sociological Association, International Sociological Association and the Council for European Studies.

Aiken's wife, Catherine Comet, is the musical director of the Grand Rapids, Mich., Symphony Orchestra. The couple has an 18-year-old daughter.

Division of Intercollegiate Athletics

Division of Intercollegiate Athletics

The forerunner of the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics (DIA), the University of Illinois Athletic Association, was chartered in 1892 as a not-for-profit corporation by the state of Illinois. It was charged with overseeing and conducting the University's intercollegiate athletic programs and associated support services, and operated as a separate entity.

After the state legislature voted in June 1989 to bring the UI athletics within the University proper, the DIA assumed the functions and responsibilities of the Athletic Association. The DIA officially began operations July 1, 1989.

The director of athletics is the division's chief executive officer, and reports directly to the chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus. The chancellor has final say regarding the athletic program in all areas except for budget and approval of major appointments. Those decisions rest with the UI Board of Trustees.

The Athletic Board serves the DIA in an advisory capacity. It is composed of 18 members.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics receives neither state tax dollars nor student fees. The University of Illinois is able to fully fund the NCAA-maximum allowable number of athletic scholarships for student-athletes in its 17 sport programs, as well as maintain top-notch facilities and coaching staffs, with revenues from three major sources. Those sources are: gate receipts from football and men's basketball, television and radio rights for those two sports, and donations to the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund.

The FISF contributions provide the 350 scholarships in nine men's and eight women's sports at an average annual cost of $9,848 for in-state tuition and $14,100 for out-of-state tuition.

The Assembly Hall, Memorial Stadium, the Atkins Tennis Center, Illinois Field, and the Outdoor Track and Field Stadium are on the south end of campus.

Athletic Facilities

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics utilizes 11 facilities for competition and the administration of its 17 varsity sports. They are: Memorial Stadium, Assembly Hall, Huff Hall, Illinois Field, the Outdoor Track and Field Stadium, the Armory, Atkins Tennis Center, the Intramural and Physical Education Building, Kenney Gym, the University of Illinois Golf Courses and administrative offices, temporarily housed in Illini Plaza.

In 1992, the DIA completed an $18 million renovation project on Memorial Stadium.

Football is not the only athletic program receiving benefits from new and improved facilities. The most recent addition to the University of Illinois athletic physical plant is the Atkins Tennis Center, which opened in November 1991.

The baseball and track teams will begin their eighth seasons next spring in their respective facilities. Illinois Field is a first-rate 1500-seat baseball facility, and is targeted for a future expansion to accommodate 5,000 fans.

The nationally acclaimed track teams are primed for another year of competition in their $2.2 million stadium, for which future plans include a press box and seating for up to 12,000.

The men's basketball team plays its games at the 16,000-seat Assembly Hall, just south of Memorial Stadium, while the women play at Huff Hall.

Huff Hall, the home of Illinois basketball from 1925-63 when it was known as Huff Gym, is in the midst of a step-by-step renewal process designed to upgrade it as a practice and/or competition site for volleyball, women's basketball, wrestling and some gymnastics events.

Groundbreaking took place in October for the 40,000 square foot Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, to be located on the east-west axis between Atkins Tennis Center and the Assembly Hall. The facility will house the offices of not only the administration and most of the coaches, but also those of the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund, accounting and personnel, and marketing and promotions.

A "Park of Tradition," which will celebrate and commemorate the history of Fighting Illini athletics, will lead pedestrians from the southeast corner of Fourth Street and Kirby Avenue to the main entrance on the west side of the structure. It is around that main entrance that a Fighting Illini athletics hall of fame will be situated.

The benefactors for the project are Gary and Carlotta Bielfeldt of Peoria and their family.

The Assembly Hall

There is just one facility that could host not only Fighting Illini Basketball, but also the Ice Capades, Jay Leno, Whitney Houston, Garth Brooks, Stevie Wonder, Hammer, Ray Charles, Amy Grant, Broadway plays and Bill Cosby. That place is the Assembly Hall, which celebrated the 30th anniversary of its first basketball game in March 1993.

One of the world's most unique arenas, the Assembly Hall has won world-wide acclaim for its architectural design—a design that has been used as a model for more than 125 buildings around the globe. The Assembly Hall was built between 1959 and 1963 at a cost of $8.35 million. The structure consists of two concrete bowls placed face to face; the 400-foot diameter of the dome makes it the largest of its kind in the world.

Its circular seating arrangement makes the Assembly Hall an ideal place to watch an event; it gives each of the spectators (potentially 16,321 for basketball) an excellent, unobstructed view of the exciting action on the court. That capacity has been stretched to overflowing on 45 occasions. The all-time attendance mark was set March 1, 1987, when 16,793 Fighting Illini fans enjoyed a victory over eventual national champion Indiana. Prior to its first game in the Assembly Hall—March 4, 1963—the Fighting Illini played at Huff Hall.

Illinois has enjoyed great success in the Assembly Hall. In 32 seasons the team has won 77 percent of the games it has played (322-96 record). In fact, in a recent two-year period, the Fighting Illini went on a streak of 31 wins there.

In 1993-94, Illinois averaged nearly 13,000 fans per home game for the 16th consecutive season; 240,301 fans passed through the turnstiles. In 1970-71, the Assembly Hall accommodated an NCAA record-setting 177,408 spectators (since broken), when all 11 home games were sellouts.

Director of Athletics Ron Guenther

Ronald E. (Ron) Guenther, a former student-athlete and administrator at the University of Illinois, was named as the Fighting Illini's eighth Director of Athletics on May 14, 1992. He replaced former AD and head football coach John Mackovic who left the UI in December of 1991 to become head football coach at the University of Texas.

"I am and always will be an Illini," Guenther says. "Because I've earned two degrees here, I want Illinois to have the best program with the highest degree of integrity that we can put in place. The University of Illinois should be the model for the nation."

Guenther's first two years as director have been sprinkled with numerous success stories:

- A total of 68 student-athletes earned Academic All-Big Ten honors in the classroom during the 1993-94 school year, while nearly half of all student-athletes had at least a "B" average in the classroom.
- The DIA's new corporate sponsorship program yielded approximately a half-million dollars to the Fighting Illini athletic budget in 1993-94.
- The Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund showed an increase of five percent from a year ago.
- The DIA began construction of the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building in October, with completion of the structure scheduled for the fall of 1995.
- The DIA continued improvement of its existing athletic facilities, including renovation of Huff Hall and the UI Golf Course.
- Illinois' athletic department completed a successful review of its compliance with the Title IX guidelines.

Guenther assumed the directorship of the DIA following nearly two years with the UI Foundation, where he served from September of 1990 through June of 1992. Guenther's title with the Foundation was Director of Major Gifts.

He was a partner with The Barofsky Association, a Chicago area investments and marketing firm from March of 1989 until he returned to the University.

From June of 1988 to March of 1989, Guenther was UI's Interim Director of Athletics for External Operations, administering the development program, public relations, promotions, tickets, merchandise and summer camps. He was responsible for negotiating Illinois' bid to the 1988 All American Bowl in Birmingham, Ala.

Guenther spent the previous three years as associate athletic director for development, coordinating UI's Campaign for Excellence in Athletics. That campaign provided the impetus towards upgrading the University's athletic plant for the first time in nearly 60 years. Among the facilities that were targeted and ultimately completed were stadia for baseball and track and field, the Atkins Tennis Center, plus construction of the current football office/training complex. Guenther was instrumental in soliciting gift commitments totaling $15 million.

From May of 1983 to June of 1985, he served as Illinois' assistant athletic director for Chicago operations.

Guenther spent eight years at North Central College in Naperville, Ill., including a stint from 1975-79 as director of admissions and also as associate head football coach. From 1979-83, he served as NCC's vice president of development and public affairs. Guenther helped design and implement NCC's successful $15 million Capital Campaign. As associate head football coach, he helped the Cardinals compile a record of 23-12-2, including the school's first winning season in 15 years.

Before moving to North Central College, Guenther coached at Boston College from 1971-74, developing nine National Football League players during his tenure as offensive line coach.

From 1968-71, he was a teacher and coach in football, wrestling and track for the Evanston Township and Glenbard High School systems in suburban Chicago.

At Illinois, under Head Coach Pete Elliott, Guenther was an all-star offensive guard for the Fighting Illini football team. Among the honors he won during his senior season in 1966 were team Most Valuable Player honors, second-team All-Big Ten laurels, Academic All-Big Ten honors and the George Huff Award for academic proficiency at the UI.

Guenther, born October 3, 1945, earned two degrees from the University of Illinois, a bachelor of science degree in physical education in 1967 and a master of science degree in administration in 1968.

Head Coach Lou Henson

Lou Henson is one of the most respected and successful coaches in college basketball. The 62-year-old Okay, Okla., native enters his 33rd season of college coaching as the seventh-winningest (626 victories) active NCAA Division I coach.

Henson, the 1993 Big Ten Coach of the year, picked up his 600th win Jan. 21, 1993, when the Illini defeated Penn State, 82-66, at the Assembly Hall. The victory made him only the 16th coach in NCAA Division I history to achieve that feat and helped him earn nomination to the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame during the summer of 1993.

After guiding Illinois to its most successful basketball season ever (record 31 wins and NCAA Final Four appearance) in 1989, Henson is one of just nine coaches to have taken teams from two different schools to that late March-early April extravaganza.

In addition, Henson has proven he can win year in and year out, regardless of the perceived talent level, and regardless of outside expectations. For example, prior to the 1990-91 season, most college basketball observers had picked the Fighting Illini to finish eighth in the Big Ten, but Henson and his staff guided their team to a tie for third place in the league race. And in 1991-92, the team repeated the feat under similar circumstances.

Henson's success has not been limited to his stay in Champaign-Urbana. He has a proven track record wherever he has lent his expertise. His teams have either tied or set school records for victories (in a season) seven times. It is no accident that Henson has fielded postseason tournament caliber teams 20 times, including 14 of the last 15 years, and that his collegiate teams have averaged 20 wins per season.

Henson's basketball career began in his home town. After taking his skills to Connors (Okla.)

Junior College and New Mexico State (from where he graduated in 1955), he moved to a less familiar vantage point, the sidelines. He ventured immediately into coaching, spending six seasons at Las Cruces High School in New Mexico, where he served as junior varsity coach for two years, before being promoted to head coach. While at LCHS, Henson compiled 145 wins against just 23 losses, capturing three consecutive state championships along the way.

Hardin-Simmons gave Henson his first chance to coach at the collegiate level, and he seized the opportunity by putting together 20-victory seasons on two occasions. Those 20-win seasons sandwiched a 17-win campaign, and each was built around a forward out of Syracuse, N.Y., named Dick Nagy, who now is a 15-year veteran on Henson's coaching staff at Illinois.

Henson's fourth and final season at Hardin-Simmons ended at 20-6. That same year (1966), New Mexico State was finishing at 4-22. The Aggies called upon Henson to rebuild their program, and the next season he produced a 15-11 slate and took the team on the first of six trips to the NCAA tournament.

Of those appearances, the 1970 season was the most fruitful: New Mexico State, led by All-America guard Jimmy Collins, who also serves now as an Illinois assistant coach, finished the season with 27 wins and three losses. The final loss was to eventual-champion, UCLA, in the semifinals of the NCAA tournament. It was the third consecutive time the Bruins had knocked off Henson's Aggies.

New Mexico went on to win its final game against St. Bonaventure, and finished third in the tournament. Members of that 1970 quintet included three players who made names for themselves in the NBA: Sam Lacey (Kansas City Kings), Charlie Criss (Atlanta Hawks) and Collins (Chicago Bulls).

On top of the four 20-win seasons at New Mexico State, Henson won 19 games twice and had only one losing season. Over his 32-year career, Henson has had just four losing seasons. Within two years of the first three of them, he had either won 20 games or led his team to a postseason tournament.

Despite the three years of disappointment John Wooden's teams handed Henson at tournament time, it was Wooden's retirement that paved the way for Henson's arrival in Champaign. UCLA decided to replace Wooden with then-Illinois coach Gene Bartow. Henson was chosen to fill the vacancy left by Bartow, and rebuild a team that finished 8-18 the previous year. He was the third coach in as many years for Illinois.

Under Lou Henson, the Fighting Illini:

- made their first NCAA Final Four appearance (in 1989) since 1952.
- won 20 or more games for nine consecutive seasons, 1982-1991.
- made 11-consecutive postseason appearances (1980-90), nine of which were in the NCAA tournament.
- made him the 16th coach in NCAA history to have won 600 games in a career; No. 600 came Jan. 21, 1993, at the Assembly Hall against Penn State.
- have produced a 181-45 (.801) non-conference record.
- put together 11 of Illinois' 17 20-win basketball seasons, and 11 consecutive seasons with 10 or more Big Ten wins.
- have won an average of 22 games per season over the last 12 years.
- have sent several current players to the NBA. Those currently on NBA rosters are Derek Harper (New York Knickerbockers), Ken Norman (Atlanta Hawks), Nick Anderson (Orlando Magic), Kendall Gill (Seattle SuperSonics) and Marcus Liberty (Cleveland Cavaliers).
- made him the winningest coach in the history of Illinois basketball.
- made him 1993 Big Ten Coach of the Year.

Henson's combined record for his first three seasons at Illinois was just two games over .500. From then on, only once has he finished under .500.

Former assistant Tony Yates made recruiting inroads to Chicago, and Dick Nagy and Jimmy Collins have strengthened those ties. This has all provided the foundation for a program that is generally considered one of the best in the nation, year-in and year-out.

With the NIT final four appearance in 1980, a Big Ten co-championship in 1984 (after which he was voted ESPN's National Coach of the Year), 10 NCAA tournament appearances, including the Final Four trip to Seattle in 1989, the program has become renowned for its consistently strong teams.

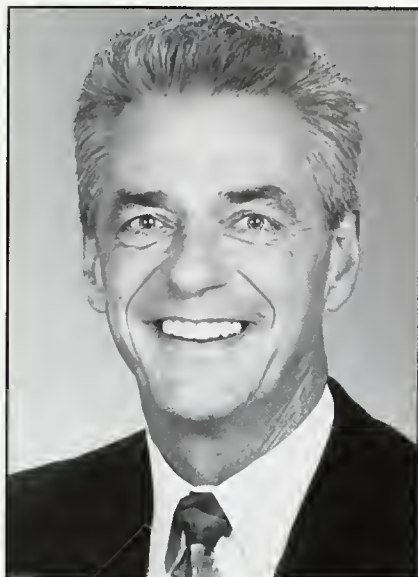

Henson has always been a stickler for defense. His 1966 New Mexico State squad held its opponents to 39 percent shooting from the field. Since he has led the Fighting Illini program, the opponents' combined field goal percentage is 44.4, while the Illini have held their opponents to 69.1 points per game.

Henson and his wife, Mary, live in Champaign and have three daughters, Lisa, Lori and Leigh Anne. Their son, Lou Jr., was killed in an automobile accident Nov. 20, 1992.

Illinois Basketball Staff

Dick Nagy

Assistant Coach

From Hardin-Simmons to the NCAA Final Four, Dick Nagy has been with Lou Henson both as a player and as an assistant coach. In fact, since he rejoined Henson in 1979, the Fighting Illini have played in postseason tournaments 12 of 14 years and put together a string of 11 consecutive postseason appearances.

Nagy, a Syracuse, N.Y., native, began his long association with Henson when he was convinced by the future Illinois mentor to attend Hardin-Simmons. Nagy, who had been out of high school for three years and had played independent basketball in Syracuse, led the Cowboys to a pair of 20-6 records in two of the three seasons he and Henson were together. After Henson departed Hardin-Simmons for New Mexico State, Nagy captained his second Cowboys team, and then went on to serve as an assistant coach at the school for two more years while earning a master's degree.

Nagy later moved on to start the basketball program at Barton County Community College in Great Bend, Kan., in 1969. After the 1976 season, Nagy moved into private business before accepting the head coaching job at East Central Community College in Union, Mo.

In addition to his coaching (primarily with the inside players) and recruiting duties, Nagy is the coordinator of Illinois' highly-successful summer basketball camp.

He has two children, Robin and Scott, and two grandsons, Matthew and Nicholas. Nagy lives in Champaign.

Jimmy Collins

Assistant Coach

A former first-round draft pick of the Chicago Bulls, Jimmy Collins rejoined Lou Henson in 1983 as a full-time assistant.

Collins was a star guard at New Mexico State under Henson; he averaged 20.1 points per game over his three-year career, leading the Aggies to an NCAA Final Four appearance in 1970. After college he spent two-and-a-half years with the Bulls and finished his playing career with the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association.

Collins was a probation officer in Chicago prior to coming to Illinois. He was also a volunteer coach at St. Thomas School in Chicago, and coordinated summer basketball leagues in the city. Collins has also coached in the pro-college league of Chicago, where he was named Coach of the Year in 1981.

A native of Syracuse, N.Y., Collins received his bachelor's degree in journalism from NMSU. Following his pro career, he returned to the Las Cruces campus to serve as a graduate assistant. He returned to Chicago in 1976 to enter private business before joining the probation office in 1977.

His coaching responsibilities with Illinois, in addition to recruiting, lie largely with the development with the guards.

He and his wife, Hettie, have four children, Erica, Kenny, Semaj and Brandi, and live in Champaign.

Mark Bial

Assistant Coach

The coaching career of Mark Bial has come full circle. A Danville, Ill., native, Bial earned his bachelor's degree at the University of Illinois, and along the way began his association with Lou Henson and the Fighting Illini basketball program. He worked as a student assistant coach with the Fighting Illini basketball team during the 1975-76 season, Henson's first at Illinois.

Following his graduation from Illinois, Bial began his coaching career at Sehlarman High School, his alma mater, as an assistant coach (1976-77). He then returned to the U of I as a part-time coach (1977-79).

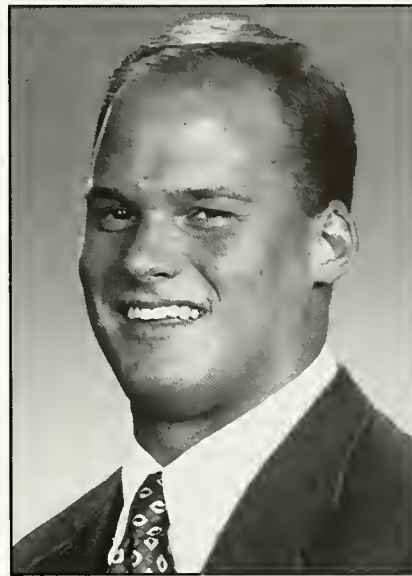

Bial worked as coach and athletic director at Northland College in Ashland, Wis., from 1979-82. From 1982-1987, he was head coach and athletic director at the University of Southern Indiana in Evansville, where he compiled a 55-31 record. In 1985 and 1987 Bial's teams finished third in the NCAA Division II Tournament, and in 1987 he was voted the Great Lakes Valley Conference coach of the year.

Bial's most recent coaching position was as head coach at Parkland College in Champaign, Ill. In his only year (1993-94) at Parkland, the Cobras went 28-8 and finished seventh in the National Junior College Athletic Association Division II Tournament, earning him NJCAA District IV and Region 24 coach of the year honors.

Bial, who earned his master's degree from Indiana State in 1985, entered private business in the sales field in 1988 before starting his own company, A-1 Polymers, Inc., a brokering firm for raw plastic materials.

At Illinois, Bial's responsibilities consist of practice preparation, opponent scouting, developing game plans and academic monitoring.

He resides with his wife, Janet, live in Urbana and have two daughters, Brittany and Bailey.

Andrew Haring

Administrative Assistant

Serving the Fighting Illini in a wide variety of ways is administrative assistant Andrew Haring. Haring manages the team's video scouting program as well as the academic monitoring system. He also assists with equipment and facility management, travel coordination, promotions and public relations.

Additionally, Haring is involved in the administration of the various Fighting Illini boys' summer basketball camps. He has coached at summer basketball camps at Illinois, Northwestern and Arizona State Universities.

Haring has been involved with the Illinois basketball program since 1988 when he began working as a student manager. He was the head manager in 1991-92, and, upon receiving his bachelor's degree in journalism, joined the UI athletic staff as a graduate assistant, working in the equipment and men's basketball offices. He earned his master's degree in sports management in May of 1994.

Assistant Athletic Director/Compliance

Rick Allen has served as assistant athletic director since 1987. He is primarily responsible for Big Ten and NCAA rules education and compliance. He also directs summer employment for University athletes and assists with home event management in football and basketball.

Allen earned his undergraduate degree from Cornell College (Iowa) in 1979. He has been with the University of Illinois since 1980, when he worked with marketing/promotions and event management as a graduate intern. He received a master's degree in athletic administration from Western Illinois University in 1985.

A native of Onslow, Iowa, Allen and his wife, Julie, have one son and live in Champaign.

Dana Brenner
Associate Director of Athletics

As associate director of athletics, Dana Brenner is responsible for facility and event management, and supervision of numerous varsity sports.

Brenner came to Illinois as assistant ticket manager in 1980. He had previously held a similar post at the Cal-State Fullerton. Brenner was promoted to assistant director in charge of events in 1984 before assuming his current role in 1989.

A Lompoc, Calif., native, Brenner graduated from the University of Pacific in 1976. He and his wife, Kathy, live in Champaign with their three daughters.

Rod Cardinal
Athletic Trainer

Rod Cardinal was appointed assistant athletic trainer at the University in July, 1973. In addition to being head basketball trainer, Cardinal also works with football and men's and women's tennis.

Prior to his appointment at Illinois, he served in a similar capacity at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, N.Y.

A native of Blaine, Minn., Cardinal graduated from Southwest State University in 1971 with a bachelor's degree in health and physical education. He was a student trainer in high school for two years, and a student trainer in college for three years prior to his West Point position. He also played varsity basketball in college.

Cardinal earned a master's degree in 1977 from Illinois in physical education and sports medicine with an additional emphasis in educational administration.

Cardinal, along with his wife, Mary, and their three children reside in Tolono.

Lynn Chaney
Academic Counselor

Lynn Chaney is in her sixth year as academic counselor at the University of Illinois. In addition to her duties with the basketball team, she also oversees the academic progress of the Fighting Illini football team.

Chaney received her undergraduate degree in leisure program management from Illinois in 1984. She earned a master's in leisure administration from Illinois in 1987.

Chaney lives in Champaign with her husband, Jeff.

David L. Chicoine,
Ph.D.
Faculty Representative

David L. Chicoine has served as faculty representative since 1989, and as a member of the Athletic Board since 1988. He is responsible for representing the University with the Big Ten Conference and at NCAA conventions. He deals with regulations and legislation at both levels. Chicoine also chairs the Big Ten's Program and Budget Committee.

Chicoine has been a faculty member at the UI since 1979 and currently heads the Department of Agricultural Economics. Additionally, he is a professor in the Institute of Government and Public Affairs.

Chicoine and his wife, Marcia, live in Champaign. Their son, Josh, is a senior at the University of Dayton, where he plays varsity soccer.

Terry Cole
Associate Director of Athletics

Terry Cole begins his second year as an associate director of athletics, overseeing academic services, the strength and conditioning staff and the sports medicine program. He was promoted to associate director in the fall of 1993 after serving as assistant director in charge of academic services for four years.

As associate director, Cole is responsible for the planning, development and coordination of academic support programs and services for Illinois athletes in all 17 varsity sports. He has worked in the academic services department since 1979, when he was named academic counselor.

The East St. Louis, Ill., native received both his master's and undergraduate degrees from Illinois. He and his wife, Elyne, have two children, and live in Champaign.

Andy Dixon
Equipment Manager

Andy Dixon has been the head equipment manager at the UI since 1985. He is responsible for repair and maintenance of athletic equipment used by all Illinois athletes, as well as supervision of eight assistants.

Dixon was an all-state football player at Champaign Central High School, where he earned a scholarship to the University of Wyoming. Following his graduation from Wyoming, Dixon received a tryout with the Dallas Cowboys, before turning toward teaching.

After teaching and coaching for three years in Cheyenne, Wyo., and one year in the Las Vegas, Nev., Dixon returned to Champaign to take a post at Illinois as assistant equipment manager. He held that position from July of 1981 to June of 1985.

Dixon and his wife, Cheryl, have two daughters, Whitney and Andrea, and reside in Champaign.

Dike Eddleman
Retired Executive Director/Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund

One of the greatest athletes in Illinois sports history, Dike Eddleman was the executive director of Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund from 1971-1992. He now serves the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as a part-time consultant.

A native of Centralia, Ill., Eddleman earned 11 letters in football, basketball and track while at Illinois. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1949.

Among Eddleman's many athletic achievements is a silver medal earned in the high jump at the 1948 Olympics. He was a member of the 1947 Rose Bowl team, set a Big Ten punting record of 43.4 yards per kick and was also a member of the 1959 Drake Relays Hall of Fame. In 1990 he was selected to the Illinois High School Association's all-time Basketball team.

Eddleman and his wife, Teddy, have four children and live in Champaign.

Steven Greene
Director of Development -Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund/Chicago

Beginning his fourth year as director of development is 1976 U of I graduate J. Steven Greene.

In 1994, Greene moved to the DIA's Chicago office in Oakbrook to serve as director of operations for Chicagoland and Northern Illinois. He is primarily responsible for fund-raising and public relations for the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund in the northern sector of the state, as well as soliciting major gifts nationwide.

Greene spent 10 years as a United Way fund-raiser and returned to the UI campus from Findlay, Ohio, where he served as chief professional officer for the United Way of Hancock County for four years.

A fullback for the Fighting Illini from 1972-75, Greene earned four letters under head coach Bob Blackman.

Greene's family includes his wife, Charlene, and four children.

Mildred B. Griggs, Ph.D.
Faculty Representative

Mildred B. Griggs, Ph.D., serves the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as faculty representative. She is responsible for representing Illinois at NCAA conventions and dealing with reforms and regulations at the Big Ten level.

Her on-campus duties deal specifically with football, men's and women's basketball and baseball. She is a member of the 13-member NCAA Council and the NCAA Committee on Review and Planning.

A native of Arkansas, Griggs received her undergraduate degree from Arkansas AM & N college. She earned her master's and doctorate from Illinois. She is a faculty member in the Department of Vocational and Technical Education in the College of Education.

Griggs and her husband, Alvin, have two sons and live in Champaign.

Dr. Robert Gurtler,
M.D.
*Team/Orthopedic

Dr. Robert Gurtler has been the University of Illinois team physician since 1983. He is responsible for treating orthopedic injuries to athletes in varsity sports. In addition to his duties with the U of I, Gurtler has a private practice at Carle Hospital, focusing primarily on sports-related injuries.

Gurtler is a 1970 graduate of the University of Kansas where he received his undergraduate degree in human development. He attended medical school at Kansas and completed his residency there. Following residency, Gurtler received a fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania where he specialized in knee reconstructive surgery and sports medicine. He arrived in Champaign following his fellowship.

Gurtler is single and lives in Urbana.

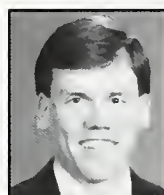

Mike Hatfield
Director of Athletic Ticket Office

Mike Hatfield is in his 14th year of service with the Illinois Division of Intercollegiate Athletics. He currently serves as director of the athletic ticket office. Previously, Hatfield worked for eight years as academic counselor to the Fighting Illini football and men's basketball programs.

Hatfield, a native of Hoopston, is an alumnus of Parkland College and a 1979 graduate of Eastern Illinois University, where he also earned his master's in 1980. As an undergraduate, Hatfield earned All-America honors in track and field in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

He and his wife, Carol, have two children, Angie and Nic, and reside in Champaign.

Assistant Director of Athletics

Warren Hood has been employed by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics since 1988, when he began working in the marketing and promotions office.

He moved to the administration office in 1989, where he currently serves as an assistant director. He is responsible for football and basketball game management, Big Ten and NCAA championships and assists with corporate relations.

Hood, 29, earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Illinois. He and his wife, Denise, reside in Champaign.

Karol Kahrs, Ph.D.
Associate Director of Athletics

Dr. Karol Kahrs, associate director of athletics, directs the women's intercollegiate athletic program at the University of Illinois as well as other administrative responsibilities. She has served the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics since 1974.

Kahrs has been with the University since 1966, when she served as an instructor in the Department of Physical Education. She also served as director of the Women's Extracurricular Sports Association, working in both capacities until 1970.

Kahrs earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from the University of Georgia in 1962 and a master's degree in physical education from Ohio State University in 1965. She earned her doctorate from OSU in 1972.

Under Kahrs' direction and leadership, Illinois was one of the first major institutions to be reviewed by the Office of Civil Rights and found to be in compliance with Title IX in 1981. In 1974, Kahrs was placed in charge of the newly created seven-sport women's intercollegiate athletics program at Illinois. In 1988, she served as Director of Internal Affairs for the former Athletic Association and was instrumental in the Association merger into the University in 1989.

Kahrs serves on the Board of Visitors for the United State Sports Academy. She received the Distinguished Alumnus Award in Physical Education at Georgia in 1988. She lives in Champaign.

Kahrs was recognized by the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators in October of 1992 when she was named NACWAA Administrator of the Year for District V. She recently was selected to serve as a peer reviewer for NCAA certification of member institutions.

Al Martindale, ATC
Director of Sports Medicine

Al Martindale was named head athletic trainer at the University of Illinois in July of 1983. A native of Postville, Iowa, he is now in his 14th year as a head trainer at the Division I level.

Martindale spent six years at the University of Hawaii, including three as the head trainer, before accepting the Illinois post.

He received his degree in physical education from Upper Iowa University in 1973. From UIU he went to Indiana State, earning a master's degree in 1974. His next stop was Moline (Ill.) High School, where he spent three years before taking the position in Hawaii.

Martindale's responsibilities include the prevention and treatment of injuries to athletes in all 17 of Illinois' varsity sports. He also supervises five full-time assistants, two graduate assistants and more than two dozen student assistants.

Martindale and his wife, Lisa, have one daughter, and live in Champaign.

Tom Porter
Associate Director of Athletics

Tom Porter is in his eighth year as associate director of athletics.

He is responsible for supervision of the Varsity "I" Association, UI's summer camps, licensing, the athletic ticket office and marketing and promotions.

In 1973, Porter came to Illinois from Hersey High school in Arlington Heights, Ill., where he guided the wrestling team to two IHSAA state titles.

He joined the UI football coaching staff as an assistant and also was the head wrestling coach from 1973 to 1978. Porter moved into administration in 1978 when he was named assistant director of athletics.

A native of Harvey, Ill., Porter received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Indiana State University. He and his wife, Patty, have two sons and reside in Mahomet.

Jesse Ratliff
Equipment Manager

Jesse Ratliff is in his eighth year in the equipment department as an assistant to equipment manager Andy Dixon. Ratliff concentrates on supplying the players with required and requested equipment.

In addition to making sure the uniforms are prepared, he is present during the game to repair equipment. During the week, he is in charge of distributing day-to-day equipment.

Ratliff, along with his three children, resides in Urbana.

Dr. Stephen H. Soboroff
Team Physician

Dr. Stephen H. Soboroff is medically and administratively responsible for the health care of all Illinois student-athletes. He directs the drug-education and drug-testing programs and provides consultation to the athletic training staff. Soboroff has served in this capacity since 1983.

Soboroff received his M.D. from the University of Illinois College of Medicine in 1969. He serves on the faculty in the University's School of Medicine and the Department of Kinesiology.

Soboroff is single and lives in Champaign.

Gary Spezia
Career Counselor

Gary Spezia was appointed career counselor for the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics in October 1992. He previously worked as an academic advisor in the University's School of Life Sciences.

Spezia's work includes guiding student-athletes in the career decision-making process, assisting in job preparation skills and arranging for internships and job placement. He also is involved with professional sports counseling for those student-athletes who are considering professional careers in athletics.

In addition to his work as a career counselor, Spezia also serves as academic counselor for seven sports.

A native of Danville, Ill., Spezia attended Bemidji State University in Minnesota, where he was an all-conference basketball player. He received a bachelor's degree in biology from Eastern Illinois in 1985 and his master's degree in educational psychology and guidance from Eastern Illinois.

Spezia is single and lives in Champaign.

Tim Tracy
Assistant Director of Athletics

Tim Tracy joined the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as business manager in 1986. He previously held administrative positions at Springfield (Ill.) Memorial Medical Center and Mercy Hospital in Urbana.

As business manager, Tracy is the chief financial officer for the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics and acts as liaison to the campus Office of Business Affairs. His responsibilities include management of financial reporting, budgeting, procurement, accounting and contractual functions. He also is responsible for the courtesy car program and supervision of the UI golf course.

A native of Bement, Ill., Tracy received a bachelor's degree in business from Illinois College in 1982. He and his wife, Molly, reside in Bement.

Barb Ward
Food Administrator

Barb Ward is in her 33rd year with the University and 27th year as the Food Administrator responsible for feeding nearly 600 athletes. Ward began as a cook in 1963 under the late Berdie Patterson and assumed her current role in 1972. She supervises four full-time assistants in meal planning and purchasing.

In addition to feeding the athletes, Ward prepares special meals for various function in the Varsity Room.

She and her husband, Oris, have raised eight children and live in Champaign.

Leo Ward, C.S.C.S.
Strength Coach

Leo Ward is in his eighth year as strength and conditioning coach for the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Now in his 28th year of coaching and strength training, the Pittsburgh, Pa., native is responsible for designing strength, conditioning and rehabilitation training regimens for the Fighting Illini.

Ward is a 1964 graduate of Western New Mexico University where he competed in football and track. In 1970 he received a master's degree in education from Penn State University. While at Penn State he served as a graduate assistant for the Nittany Lions.

Ward and his wife, Nancy, have two daughters, and reside in Champaign.

Bill Yonan
Associate Director of Athletics

Bill Yonan joined the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as director of corporate relations in March of 1993. He was named an associate director in September. In addition to coordinating the DIA's corporate sponsorship program, Yonan oversees the sports information and Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund offices.

Yonan attended the University of Illinois from 1955-59, where he was a business major. He joined Time-Life Incorporated in 1959, beginning his career in the circulation department. He moved into sales and eventually became associate advertising director, where he was responsible for worldwide sales, marketing and public relations. He retired from Time in 1992 after 33 years with the company.

A member of the University of Illinois Presidents' Council, Yonan and his wife, Lorna, reside in Champaign. He is the father of three children, Melissa, Tracie and Matt. Tracie and Matt both are UI graduates.

Ken Zimmerman
*Director of Development-Fighting
Illini Scholarship Fund/
Champaign*

Ken Zimmerman Jr. joined the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics in 1992 as a development officer for the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund. He supervises the DIA's Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund Champaign office.

Zimmerman, 52, joined the University of Illinois staff in March, 1993 after working for five years as the assistant director of development for the University of Colorado athletic department.

He graduated from the University of Illinois in 1963 with a degree in physical education and received a master's degree from Illinois in 1966 in the same field. The co-captain of the 1962 Illini football team, Zimmerman also was elected Most Valuable Player by his teammates that year. He also lettered in fencing and was a member of the 1962 Big Ten championship team.

Zimmerman attended Aurora West High School, playing for his father, Ken Zimmerman, Sr., who played end and halfback for the Illini from 1937-39.

Zimmerman is the father of two children, Brett and Darcy, who reside in Colorado and are nationally ranked skiers.

Chief Illiniwek

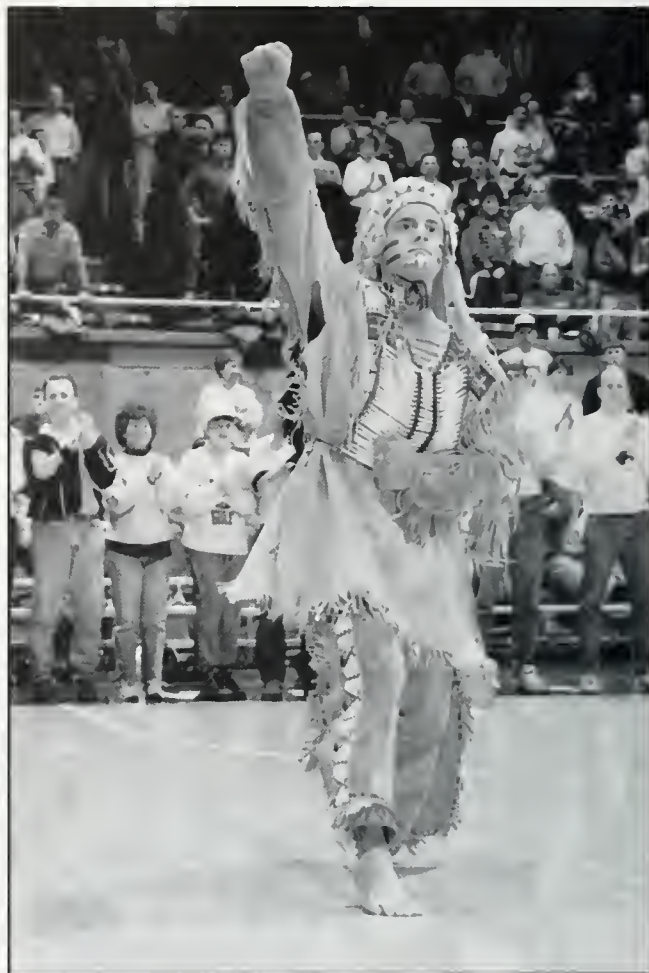

One of the most dramatic and dignified traditions in college athletics is the performance of Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois. Since 1926, this symbol has stirred pride and respect in audiences at Memorial Stadium and the Assembly Hall. Illiniwek (pronounced "ill-EYE-nih-wek") was the name of the loose confederation of Algonquin tribes that once lived in the region. The French changed the ending to "ois" in naming what became the state of Illinois.

Illiniwek means "they are men," and former Illinois football Coach Robert Zuppke is believed to have suggested calling the UI symbol Chief Illiniwek.

In 1926, Assistant Band Director Ray Dvorak conceived the idea of performing an American Indian dance during halftime of the Illinois vs. Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia. Lester Leutwiler, a student interested in Indian lore, was chosen for the role. Leutwiler's performance, done in a homemade costume, was received so well that he was asked to continue his dance through the 1928 season.

Webber Borchers, the second Chief Illiniwek, was the first to appear in authentic American Indian regalia. He initiated a campaign to raise money to replace his homemade outfit with an authentic one, but with the Depression on, he received just $15. However, a Champaign merchant stepped in to fund the rest and Borchers was off. He recalled: "In the summer of 1930 I went, at my own expense, to the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota. I hitchhiked out, called an Indian agent and explained my mission. He and an Indian trader called in an older Sioux Indian woman. She and two younger women made the suit."

On Nov. 8, 1930 in New York's Yankee Stadium, Illinois faced Army in the seventh game of the season. It was there that Borchers made the first appearance of Chief Illiniwek in that outfit. Since then, five different authentic outfits have been used by Chief Illiniwek. The one used in performances now was purchased in 1983 from Sioux Chief Frank Fools Crow, and is topped by a head-dress of turkey feathers.

Chief Illiniwek appears at all men's basketball games, as well as football games and women's basketball games.

Meet the Fighting Illini

A Look at the 1994-95 Fighting Illini

Coach Lou Henson's 20th Illinois basketball team will have a decidedly different flavor than his squads from the last four seasons. The Fighting Illini will be without T. J. Wheeler, the 1994 Big Ten free-throw champ; Tom Michael, the Fighting Illini's all-time three-point shooting leader; and Deon Thomas, Illinois' career scoring and shot-blocking leader.

"I thought we had a good year (17-11, 10-3 Big Ten, 6-1th), but not a great year, especially when you consider that we lost Rennie Clemons, our starting senior point guard, who we were counting on heavily," Henson said.

"I was very proud of our seniors last year. Gene Cross helped us a great deal as a backup player, T.J. Wheeler was a tough competitor and played three positions for us, Tom Michael gave us experience and great outside shooting, and Deon Thomas did all we could ask of a player. He had a great attitude, he was a tremendous scorer and did an excellent job rebounding and playing defense. Deon was the best offensive player that I have ever coached, and he was obviously a major focal point of our team.

"This year, we'll be more perimeter-oriented. We have three returning starters, Shelly Clark, who will definitely be a force in the middle, and our guards, Richard Keene and Kiwane Garriss. Most of our depth consists of quicker, more mobile players, and we'll try to use that to our advantage. And when Shelly's not in there, we'll frequently play a no-post offense."

Although Illinois will have a young team in 1994-95, there are other factors that justify optimism for the 1994-95 club. The Illini have 12 scholarship players, the most they have had since the 1989-90 season, and even with graduation's effects, they have about 60 percent of their arsenal returning on a statistical basis, including 70 percent of the steals, 66 percent of the assists and 65 percent of the minutes played.

And Henson, along with assistant coaches Dick Nagy and Jimmy Collins, scored big again in the recruiting battles, bringing in yet another outstanding class.

Frontcourt

Though the inside game will not be the emphasis for the Orange and Blue this season, the Illini will make their opponents pay if they concentrate too much on stopping the UI perimeter attack. Much of Illinois' experience lies with the big men. In fact, all three seniors on the squad are interior players.

Without three-time MVP Deon Thomas on the court, senior Shelly Clark (C, 6-9, 261) will have to shoulder the load in the middle. Clark was Illinois' second-leading rebounder (6.4 rpg) a year ago, but will have to play more minutes than he did last year to be effective. He averaged Senior Shelly Clark returns as Illinois' top rebounder in 1994-95 after averaging 6.4 rebounds per game last season.

"The Big Ten race this year is too tough to call, because so many of the teams in the league lost star players: Deon Thomas, Juran Howard, Jalen Rose, Glenn Robinson and the rest. But the conference will be very strong once again. There are still some excellent players in the Big Ten, such as Michael Finley and Rashard Griffith at Wisconsin, Jess Settles at Iowa, Alan Henderson at Indiana, Shawn Respert at Michigan State and Voshon Lenard at Minnesota. Michigan State and Wisconsin both have four starters back, and teams like Michigan, Indiana, Purdue and Illinois will be very good teams, too. I think it will be an exciting year for Big Ten basketball."

- Head Coach Lou Henson

22.3 minutes per contest in 1993-94, by far the fewest of any UI starter, and led the team in personal fouls.

Henson on Clark: "Shelly has a chance to be an excellent player in our league. It's often tough for a JC player to adjust to the Big Ten level in his first year. Shelly can't score over the top of people like Deon could, but with Deon gone, he'll have a little more room to operate. He needs a

"We have more of a running team this year; we'll be up and down the court a lot. Our new guys are strong enough to play right away, and I know that all of us have been working hard in the offseason to get better. I worked on the weights and I'm up to almost 215 (pounds), and I've been concentrating on taking the ball to the basket."

- Junior Richard Keene

step or two to get around his defender. I think he'll be very effective this season if he can learn to play without fouling."

While Clark has the inside track at one of the two inside spots, Henson expects quite a battle to see who his frontcourt running mate will be. Robert Bennett (F/C, 6-6, 202) has started 46 games as an Illini (second only to Richard Keene with 51 starts). His ability to elevate quickly makes him a particularly effective offensive rebounder, and he can move well up and down the floor.

Henson on Bennett: "Robert has improved each year. Just look at his free-throw shooting. He shot 35 percent as a freshman, 54 percent as a sophomore and 66 percent last season. And it isn't just his shooting. He's one of our most experienced players, and he knows our system. We think he has a chance to be a real leader with this team."

Redshirt sophomore Chris Gandy (F, 6-9, 230) is expected to be an important part of the mix in 1994-95. Gandy worked out at both the small and power forward positions a year ago and received significant playing time only sporadically. Since then he has improved his strength through weight training, and the coaching staff has decided to use him almost exclusively on the inside.

Henson on Gandy: "Chris has a chance to be a very good player. He's an excellent shooter and rebounder, but he needs to work on his ballhandling and his defense. Chris needs more playing time to be effective, and I think he'll certainly earn an opportunity to contribute this year."

Brett Robisch (C/F, 6-11, 224) did not play last season, but worked out with the team as a redshirt player. He showed some qualities that confirm why he was recruited to Illinois. Robisch could see time at both inside positions in 1994-95.

Henson on Robisch: "Brett made excellent progress last year; he's getting better all the time. He's a good ballhandler for a player his size, and he has a very good shooting touch. He's still very slender, at least by Big Ten standards, and as he continues to get stronger, he'll become more and more of a factor on our ballclub."

Another player who will likely see spot duty this season is senior Steve Roth (C, 6-10, 249), a walk-on player who earned a scholarship last year. Roth played sparingly in 1993-94, but earned valuable experience by competing for the Big Ten contingent which played eight games on a tour of Argentina in June.

Henson on Roth: "Steve started out with us pretty much as a practice player, but he's worked hard on his game and has improved considerably. He has developed good defensive skills in the post area and has become an effective defensive rebounder. He's also started to show us he can score in the paint."

Henson expects incoming freshman Jerry Gee (F, 6-7, 229) to have an immediate impact on the upcoming Fighting Illini team. Gee, who was the Class A high school co-player of the year in Illinois last year, is particularly strong for a freshman, and has the skills to compete at both the small and power forward positions.

Henson on Gee: "Jerry is a versatile player. He can play either on the inside or on the perimeter. He is a good shooter, but he is equally adept at handling the ball and driving to the basket. He will compete very hard for playing time as a freshman."

Backcourt

The point guard spot was very much a question mark to begin the season a year ago. With the sudden loss of a senior starter at that position, the on-the-court traffic-direct-

A two-year starter and three-point specialist, junior guard Richard Keene will be expected to take the ball to the basket more often this season.

Sophomore point guard Kiwane Garriss averaged 15.9 points and 3.8 assists per game in 1994-95.

ing duties fell to a true freshman, albeit a talented one. Kiwane Garriss (G, 6-2, 182) impressed opposing coaches wherever he played, and nearly garnered freshman of the year honors in the Big Ten. He led the Illini in free throws, steals and minutes played, and became the first-ever freshman in the conference to score 30 points in two successive games. Henson is hoping the sophomore floor general can pick up this season where he left off last March.

Henson on Garriss: "Kiwane had an exceptional year for a freshman, in my estimation, but he's no longer a freshman. We expect improvement from him in every area—better control and direction of the team and better shooting. Knowing Kiwane, I think he'll continue to work hard to get better and better. Certainly his experience from a year ago will really help us."

Matt Heldman (G, 6-0, 168, Fr.) will be Garriss' understudy at the point. He was a Class AA all-stater and an honorable mention All-American at Libertyville High School, where he exhibited the tools the Illinois staff be-

"I think the fact that the Big Ten race is so wide open has encouraged our players to work even harder. The guys have come back in the best shape since I've been here, and they've been more dedicated than ever during the preseason, in terms of conditioning and working out on the court with each other. Shelly (Clark) and I are determined to lead this team to a great season."

- Senior Robert Bennett

lieves will make him a very effective player at the college level.

Henson on Heldman: "Matt is a tough, hard-nosed player, which we like to see. You have to have that quality to excel at this level. He also very determined and very dedicated. Matt is a tremendous jump shooter on the move and he's a terrific ballhandler. He'll primarily be a point guard, but we'll also test him out at the second-guard position to see how he fares."

With an abundance of quick, athletic, medium-sized players such as the Illini have this year, the line between small forwards and second guards becomes blurred. Several of the following perimeter players will see playing time at both spots, which Henson sometimes refers to as the wing positions.

Richard Keene (G, 6-6, 212), the only junior on the team, is a returning starter at the two-guard spot. He led the Fighting Illini in three-point shots and assists last year and also improved his statistics from the previous season in rebounding, turnovers and steals. How Keene performs may very well be a key to Illini fortunes this season.

Henson on Keene: "Richard is an excellent athlete. We were pleased with the improvements he made between his freshman and sophomore years. But he still has untapped potential. He needs to move his game up a notch or two, especially in the area of aggressiveness. Richard has the ability to take the ball to the basket and to go up over his defender with his jump shot, and I think he'll do more of that this season."

Sophomore Jerry Hester (F/G, 6-6, 195) can't be labeled a returning starter, since he only picked up two starts as a freshman. But he did register the most points and minutes of anyone off the bench and will be counted upon for his experience. He was considered one of Illinois' best perimeter defenders in 1993-94. Based on his performance last season, Hester may have the best shot at starting at the small forward position, especially early in the year.

Henson on Hester: "Jerry had a very good year as a freshman. He's a very versatile player; he's a cutter and a slasher, he can shoot from the outside, and he can run the floor and play defense as well. If he keeps progressing, he could be an outstanding rebounder and defender."

A pair of freshmen from Simeon High School in Chicago also will join the Illini backcourt this season. Parade All-American Bryant Notree (G, 6-4, 200) was ranked among the Top 30 players nationally by talent scouts Bob Gibbons and Dave Kaplan, and will push the veterans for playing time, especially after he adjusts to the college game.

Henson on Notree: "Bryant is a very strong player; he's a leaper and a slasher, and he can score from both inside and outside. We need players who can create on offense, and I think he'll be one who can. I know this, he'll be an exciting player to watch."

Notree's running mate at Simeon, Kevin Turner (G, 6-2, 161), an All-Public League performer last year, shot 48 percent from the field and 90 percent from the free-throw line. Henson sees enormous potential in Turner, but feels he may be a year away from making big contributions for the Fighting Illini.

Henson on Turner: "Kevin is a player that did not receive quite as much attention from the recruiters as many of the others, but after watching him closely and speaking with his high school coach, we realized the quality of player that he is. Kevin is an excellent jumper and a very good shooter, but he needs to get stronger. He's still growing, and it wouldn't surprise me if he gets two or three inches taller by the time he graduates."

Brian Johnson (F, 6-6, 191) is a walk-on player who showed enough promise in his workouts last year as a true freshman that the coaching staff asked him to redshirt, so that he would retain four seasons of eligibility.

A Quick Look at the Fighting Illini

STARTERS RETURNING: (3) Kiwane Garris, 6-2, G, sophomore, 15.9 points per game, 3.5 rebounds per game, 3.8 assists per game; Richard Keene, 6-6, G, junior, 8.0 ppg, 3.5 rpg, 4.0 apg; Shelly Clark, 6-9, C, senior, 9.5 ppg, 6.4 rpg.

LETTERMEN RETURNING: (7) Kiwane Garris; Richard Keene; Shelly Clark; Jerry Hester, 6-6, F, sophomore, 8.1 ppg, 4.0 rpg; Robert Bennett, 6-6, F/C, senior, 5.0 ppg, 3.7 rpg; Chris Gandy, 6-9, F, redshirt sophomore, 3.4 ppg, 1.9 rpg; Steve Roth, 6-10, C, senior, 1.6 ppg, 1.6 rpg.

INCOMING RECRUITS: (4) Jerry Gee, 6-7, F, freshman, Chicago, Ill. (St. Martin de Porres H.S.), 25 ppg, 11 rpg last season; Matt Heldman, 6-0, G, freshman, Libertyville, Ill. (Libertyville H.S.), 26 ppg; Bryant Notree, 6-4, G, freshman, Chicago, Ill. (Simeon H.S.), 24 ppg, 9 rpg; Kevin Turner, 6-2, G, freshman, Chicago, Ill. (Simeon H.S.), 20 ppg, 6 rpg, 3 apg.

1993-94 REDSHIRTS: (2) Brett Robisch, 6-11, C/F, redshirt freshman, Springfield, Ill. (Calvary H.S.); Brian Johnson, 6-6, F, redshirt freshman, Des Plaines, Ill. (Maine West H.S.).

Henson on Johnson: "Brian came to us last season and worked especially hard in practice. He's a good jumper and a good ballhandler, and plays tough defense. He's also aggressive and takes the ball to the basket. While he's not yet ready to play a great deal, if he continues to show us that work ethic and keeps on improving, he could help us in certain situations."

Senior Robert Bennett will be Illinois' most experienced front-court player this season.

Illinois Glossary

All-Illinois

For the third straight year, the Fighting Illini basketball roster is made up entirely of natives of the state of Illinois. No other Big Ten team can boast the fact that all of its players are home-state products. Since 1988-89, 91 of the 92 players listed in the Illini media guides have hailed from Illinois.

All-Star Candidate

Freshman point guard Kiwane Garris was given honorable mention All-Big Ten honors by the media in 1994 and should be a strong candidate for postseason honors in 1995, including All-Big Ten.

Blimp

The Fighting Illini blimp will fly inside the Assembly Hall at UI home games for the second consecutive season in 1994-95. Making its debut a year ago, it inspired the manufacturing of a larger version for football, which appeared at Illinois' 1994 home gridiron contests.

Cheerleaders

Illinois' 16-member varsity cheerleading squad is coached for the fourth year by Erin Krouse. Serving as captains for the 1994-95 squad are senior Jennifer Horton of Florissant, Mo., and senior Doug Schein of Arlington Heights, Ill. In the spring of 1994, the Illinois cheerleaders reached the finals of the national cheerleading championships. Organized cheerleading began at Illinois in 1899 with "Red" Matthews, acknowledged by Ripley's Believe It or Not as the world's first acrobatic cheerleader.

Chief Illiniwek

The Chief has been a dignified and honored tradition on the UI campus since 1926. Lester Leutwiler of Urbana was the first UI student to portray Chief Illiniwek, serving from 1926-28. Sophomore John Creech was chosen as the new Chief in tryouts last spring and will portray the Chief until he graduates. Chief Illiniwek performs only at halftimes of Illinois football and basketball games.

Coaching Continuity

The Fighting Illini coaching staff, despite having first-year assistant coach Mark Bial, is the league's most experienced together as a unit. Lou Henson is in his 20th year with the Fighting Illini, while Dick Nagy is in his 16th year in Champaign, and Jimmy Collins returns for season No. 12 at Illinois. The staff's combined 45 years of coaching at Illinois leads Indiana, which is second, with a combined total of 43 years of experience as a staff. Henson has coached more basketball games than any other head mentor at Illinois; he is also the school's winningest coach.

Colors

Orange and navy blue became the official colors of the University of Illinois Nov. 1, 1894. Prior to that date, the school's unofficial colors were originally black and yellow, then Dartmouth green in 1892, in honor of former coach E.K. Hall. Illinois' official PMS colors are 281 (blue) and 158 (orange).

Illinois Loyalty

The University of Illinois' school song, "Illinois Loyalty," was first performed before the student body March 3, 1906. A newly hired English instructor from Brown University, Thatcher Howland Guild, brought the now legendary melody with him from Rhode Island to Champaign. Guild's original first line of lyrics ran "We're Loyal to You, Men of Brown." The tune is now regarded as one of America's greatest school songs.

Photography

Much of the photography in the Fighting Illini Basketball Media Guide, and for that matter, most Division of Intercollegiate Athletics publications, is taken through the lenses of Mark Jones, who owns the Tintype Photo Studio in Arthur, Ill. Jones has taken photos at UI athletic events since 1987.

Scholarship Fund

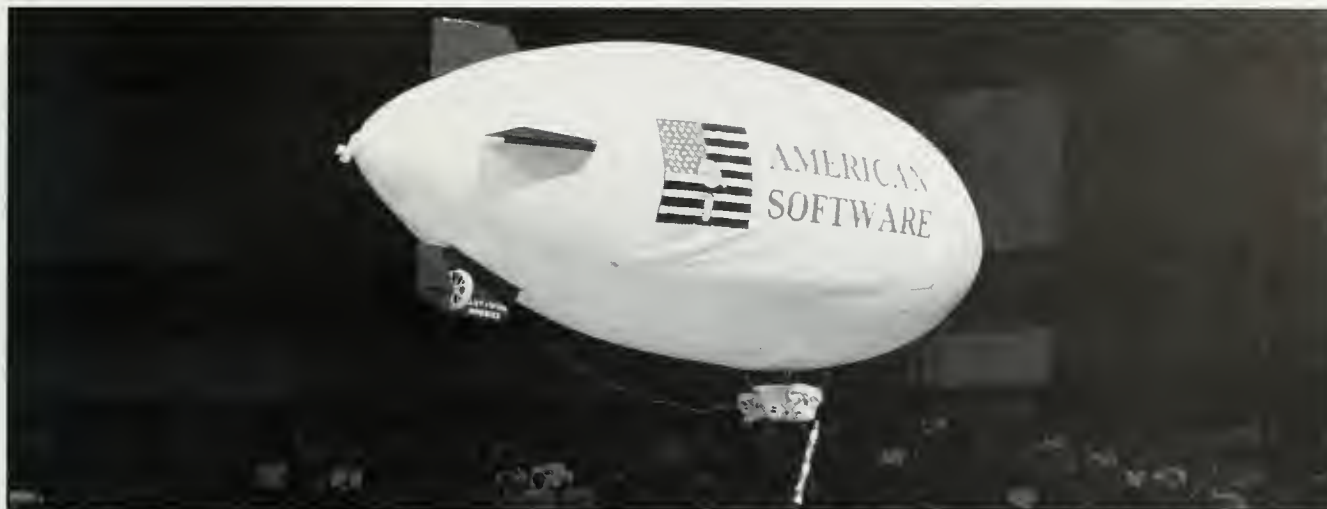

The Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund, directed by Ken Zimmerman and Steve Greene, benefits more than 350 student-athletes at the University of Illinois. There are six different levels of contributions (based on annual donations): the Tomahawk Club ($100 to $249), the Brave Club ($250 to $499), the Warrior Club ($500 to $999), the Chief Club ($1,000 to $2,999), the Tribal Council ($3,000 to $9,999) and the Loyalty Circle ($10,000 and above). Nearly 5,000 contributors donate more than $3 million annually to the FISE. For more information, call (217) 333-6595.

Seniors

1994-95 will be the final collegiate season for three Fighting Illini scholarship seniors: Robert Bennett, Shelly Clark and Steve Roth.

Shoes

Converse supplies the shoes for the Fighting Illini basketball team. Coach Henson, who has been wearing Converse shoes for 55 seasons, speaks at Converse coaching clinics several times each year.

The Illinois blimp made its debut during the 1993-94 basketball season and is now one of the more popular attractions at the Assembly Hall.

Stats Crew

The Illinois basketball statistics crew is headed by Pete Fletcher in the center of the Assembly Hall press box. The statistical system is connected to the White Way scoreboard matrix display, which inform fans and media alike of team and player stats throughout the game.

TBC

The Illinois Sports Network, under the direction of Will Tieman and TBC Sports in Champaign, is the Big Ten's largest radio network. Jim Turpin, general manager of WDWS/WIHS Radio in Champaign, and Loren Tate, executive sports editor of the Champaign-Urbana News-Gazette, call the action on the network broadcasts.

Two-Hundred Club

Lou Henson needs just three conference wins to join the exclusive 200-Big Ten-Victory Club, which has three members: Bob Knight (Indiana, 281 wins); Ward Lambert (Purdue, 228); and Branch McCracken (Indiana, 210).

Uniforms

Jerseys and pants for Fighting Illini basketball are supplied by Champion. Illinois wears either white or orange uniforms at home; on the road the team wears either navy or orange uniforms.

Upper Division

Illinois has finished in the upper half of the Big Ten Conference in 11 of the last 12 seasons. The 10-8 conference record posted by the Orange and Blue in 1993-94 earned the team a tie for fourth place (with Minnesota) in the league and a berth in the NCAA tournament. The Fighting Illini have appeared in the postseason extravaganza 11 times in the last 14 years.

Varsity I Association

Membership in the Varsity "I" Association is open to all current and former student-athletes who have been awarded a varsity letter at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. UI associate athletic director Tom Porter serves as executive director of the association, while former basketball/track letterman Ben Louis currently serves as president.

Varsity Room Staff

Fighting Illini players enjoy many of their meals during the school year at the Varsity Room, located in the southeast tower of Memorial Stadium. Barb Ward heads a crew that consists of Kim Paris, Dorothy McKinney, Penny McKinney, Missy Smith, Cindy Birt, Pat Malloch, Mary Bublitz, Paul McKinney and Travis Hiff.

Varsity Sports

The University of Illinois' Division of Intercollegiate Athletics sponsors 17 varsity sports, nine for men and eight for women. The sports for men are baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, tennis, track and field and wrestling. The women's sports are basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, swimming, tennis, track and field, and volleyball.

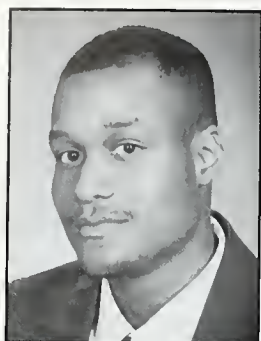

Winning Program

The Illinois men's basketball program is second in the Big Ten in all-time conference victories. Coming into the 1994-95 campaign, the Illini have played more Big Ten games (1,228) than any other team; they trail Purdue by a single game in all-time league wins (706-705) heading into the season.

Though Shelly Clark attended Indian Hills Community College in Ottumwa, Iowa, he is from Chicago. He's part of a home-grown Illinois team: every player on the 1991-95 roster is from the Land of Lincoln.

1994-95: As Illinois' leading returning rebounder, will be counted upon to provide muscle and scoring underneath . . . Needs to reduce the number of fouls he commits in order to be on the court more and to be more effective when he is in the game . . . Will have more room to operate without the presence of Deon Thomas . . . Should profit from his hard work during the offseason which has resulted in a two-inch increase in his vertical jump, from 28 to 30 inches.

JUNIOR COLLEGE

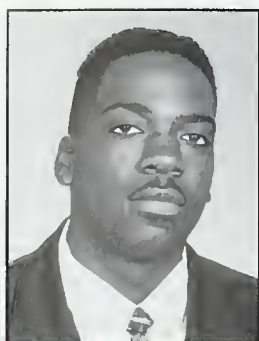

led his Indian Hills Community College team in 1992-93 to a 34-4 record and a berth in the final four of the junior college national tournament at Hutchinson, Kan. . . Averaged 17.4 points and 12.9 rebounds per game in 1992-93 for Indian Hills . . . Top scorer and rebounder in the 1993 junior college nationals with 96 points and 60 rebounds (in four games) . . . Named to the all-tournament team . . . 1993 Junior College Player of the Year, as chosen by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and by talent scout Van Coleman . . . Called a "man-among-boys" by one basketball publication . . . Holds Indian Hills' season (490) and career (902 in 72 games/12.5 rpg) records for rebounds . . . Indian Hills went 61-11 during his two-year career.

Son of Burie Kitching and the late Shirley Clark . . . Burie is actually his first name, but he goes by his middle name, Shelly . . . Played high school basketball under Don Pittman at South Shore High School, which competes in the Red-South Division of Chicago's Public League . . . Nickname is "Camp" . . . Biggest thrill in sports was going to the junior college national tournament in 1993 . . . Made the dean's list at Indian Hills . . . Enjoys drawing and singing . . . Enrolled in the College of Applied Life Science, majoring in program management.

Chris had a very productive offseason in the weight room, adding 22 pounds of muscle to his 6-foot-9-inch frame.

1994-95: Should be a force under the boards this season with his added bulk and strength . . . Has increased his bench press from 205 to 255 pounds since last season; has also increased his leg-press from 540 pounds to 860 pounds since his arrival at Illinois . . . Has played both forward positions in the past, but is likely to focus now on the power forward position . . . Possesses exceptional shooting range and mobility for a power forward . . . Will garner lots of minutes if his ball-handling and defense shows significant improvement since last season.

1993-94: Saw 21 minutes of action per game during a four-game stretch during the middle of December, but played very little during an 11-contest span through most of January . . . KEENE FACT Keene's 57 three-point goals in 1992-93 are the most ever by a UI freshman and the third-best ever by an Illini.

AT ILLINOIS

1994-95: The only junior on the team. Keene is Illinois' most experienced backcourt player . . . Has the inside track in the competition for the two-guard position . . . Will be counted upon for leadership on the squad, along with the team's three seniors . . . Needs to look to score more, both from the outside, and, especially off the drive, according to the coaching staff . . . Improved his strength in the offseason, boosting his bench press to 315 pounds, best on the team . . . Called the Big Ten's most underrated player by Athlon's College Basketball magazine.

1993-94: Led the Fighting Illini in three-point shots with 47 and in assists with 113 (4.0 apg) . . . Improved on his freshman stats in three-point shooting percentage, rebounding, assists, turnovers and steals, but declined in his overall shooting percentage and in his production at the free-throw line . . . Overall shooting percentage was down from the previous year, due to shooting slumps in the first and last three games of the season (.171 from the field in those six games) . . . Was the Big Ten's fourth-best from outside the three-point arc (all games) with a .425 success rate . . . Tied with Kiwane Garris for the most starts (27) . . . Best games were vs. Missouri (12/22: 17 points, seven rebounds); Indiana (1/30: 19 points, five assists, nine rebounds) and Penn State (3/5: 17 points, six assists).

1992-93: One of the leading candidates for Big Ten Freshman of the Year, he was the conference's No. 4 three-point shooter (.415) . . . 57 three-point field goals ranked sixth place on the all-time UI career list . . . Started off the season slowly at the point guard position (when Rencie Clemons was out with an injury), but came on strong at the second guard spot, securing a starting berth by the end of December . . . Missed just two starts after the Texas game . . . Posted season highs of 19 points vs. Michigan (3/10), five rebounds (twice) and six assists at Minnesota (3/3) . . . Scored 15 points, all on three-pointers, in Illinois' 78-77 win over Iowa Feb. 4 . . . Was named third team by Basketball Times on its all-freshman squad.

HIGH SCHOOL

McDonald's and Parade All-American . . . Played in two postseason all-star games, the McDonald's All-America game and the Kentucky Derby Festival Classic . . . Two-time all-state selection . . . Named to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch's All-St. Louis Area team twice and named its player of the year in 1992 . . . Three-time All-Southwestern Conference pick and voted the SWC Player of the Year as a senior . . . Averaged 18 points per game in his four seasons at CHS . . . Steve Roth

52

6-10, 249
SENIOR (REDSHIRT)
BELLEVILLE, ILL. (EAST)
CENTER
BORN: 8/20/72

CAREER HIGHS

Points: 10 (12/18/93 vs. Chicago State)
Field Goals: 4 (12/18/93 vs. Chicago State)
Free Throws: 2 (on three occasions)
Rebounds: 8 (12/18/93 vs. Chicago State)
Assists: 2 (12/18/93 vs. Chicago State)
Blocks: 2 (2/2/94 at Penn State)

ROTH FACT

Steve represented the Fighting Illini on the Big Ten all-star team's tour of Argentina last summer.

AT ILLINOIS

1994-95: Is expected to see spot duty at the center position . . . Is a physical player who likes to bang on the inside and clog up the lane . . . Has shown significant improvement, both offensively and defensively, since joining the team . . . Has shaved more than six seconds off his 300-yard shuttle time from the fall of 1993 to the fall of 1994.

1993-94: Earned a scholarship after being a walk-on the previous two seasons . . . More than tripled his playing time from the previous year (69 minutes to 21 minutes) . . . Recorded the first dunks and blocked shots of his career . . . Best games were at Penn State (2/2/94: four rebounds and two blocked shots in eight minutes) and at home vs. Chicago State (12/18/93: 10 points, eight rebounds, two dunks and two assists) . . . Played the most minutes of his career at home vs. Chicago State (21 minutes).

1991-92 and 1992-93: Played sparingly (a total of 56 minutes in 30 appearances) in mop-up circumstances . . . Appeared in eight of Illinois' 10 exhibition games while the team toured Russia and the Baltic states in May 1992.

HIGH SCHOOL

Played only briefly at Belleville East High School and not at all during his senior year

PERSONAL

Friends talked him into "walking on" to the Illini team during his second year at the University; he ended up making the traveling squad for the entire 1991-92 season . . . Primary assignment his first two years was to defend (now) all-time leading Illinois scorer Deon Thomas in practice . . . Biggest thrill in sports was making it to the NCAA tournament . . . Graduated in May 1994, with a degree in marketing and is now pursuing his master's degree in sports management . . . Doug Altenberger was Roth's boyhood Fighting Illini hero . . . Favorite athlete is former Minnesota Gopher and Boston Celtic star Kevin McHale because "he made the most out of his abilities" . . . Has grown five inches and put on nearly 50 pounds since graduating from high school . . . Son of Dan and Mickey Roth.

HUSKIES SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Huskies return four of five starters from last year's No. 4-ranked team. Although the absence of Donyell Marshall will be greatly felt, the Huskies still have an impressive lineup. Leading the starters is 6-foot-6-inch senior, Donny Marshall who averaged 12.4 ppg and 5.5 rpg, the best among the returners. Guards Doron Sheffer and Kevin Ollie, who combined for 373 assists, also return. Center Eric Hayward will provide the Huskies with experience and leadership in the middle. UConn also has impressive depth; junior Travis Knight is the only member among the Huskies Top 8 not to see action in every game.

BLUE DEVILS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Blue Devils return three starters from a year ago, but will miss the likes of Grant Hill, Antonio Lang and Marty Clark. Leading the way for the Blue Devils' returnees is All-America candidate Cherokee Parks, a 6-foot-11-inch senior who was the team's leading rebounder last year and second to Hill in scoring. Filling out the remainder of the starting lineup will be starters Jeff Cape and Chris Collins, the Devils' three-point specialist. The Blue Devils also will be looking for big things from freshman guard/forward Ricky Price, their top high school recruit.

PANTHERS SCOUTING REPORT

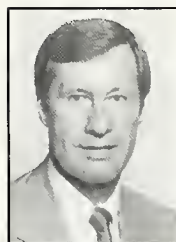

Outlook: With four two-year starters returning, head coach Rick Samuels can label experience as the strength for the '94-95 Panthers. By the end of the season, Samuels should be the winningest coach in Panther history; he needs just four wins to surpass former coach Don Eddy. Starting in the backcourt will be senior Derrick Landrus, who is third on EIU's all-time list for three-pointers made (115) and was a Basketball Weekly All-Midwest Conference honorable mention pick last year. Alongside Landrus will be junior Johnny Hernandez, who has started his first two years at both point guard and off guard. At one forward will be senior Louis Jordan, a second team All-Mid Continent Conference selection, and at the other forward will be senior Andre Rodriguez, who led the team in rebounds last year with 4.9 per game.

FLAMES SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Flames are looking to a pair of returning starters to lead them to another exciting season. Forward Sherell Ford, a first team Mid-Continent Conference selection, led the Flames and the conference in scoring (24.3) and rebounding (8.8). Guard Mike Simmons is the team's other returning starter and was ranked as high as 10th in the nation in three-point shooting last season. Although not a starter last year, guard Jessie Henderson played in 28 of the 29 contests last season and will provide some valuable experience at that position. In the frontcourt, Mike Lampley and Stefan Tacke will provide some support along the front line.

HOOSIERS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Hoosiers return three starters from a year ago and welcome one of the nation's top recruiting classes to Bloomington. Alan Henderson heads the list of returning starters and brings with him a 17.8 points per game average along with 10.3 rebounds per game. Joining Henderson are juniors Brian Evans and Todd Lindeman, who complete a solid front line for the Hoosiers. The Hoosier backcourt suffered a great loss last season with the graduation of three guards, most notably Damon Bailey and Pat Graham. Sherron Wilkerson should help fill one of the guard positions. Joining Wilkerson could be returnee Steve Hart, who was one of only three Hoosiers to play in all 30 games last year. The Hoosiers' recruiting class shows strong promise for stardom. Look for all four freshman to receive a great deal of playing time and possibly crack the starting lineup sometime in midseason.

HAWKEYES SCOUTING REPORT

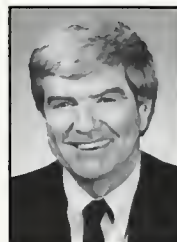

Outlook: For just the second time in coach Tom Davis' eight seasons at Iowa, the Hawkeyes failed to reach the NCAA tournament in 1993-94. The last time that happened Iowa homed lacked the following season to win 21 games. Davis hopes for similar results in 1994-95. At point guard 6-foot-6-inch senior Jim Bartels returns alongside 6-2 junior point guard Mon'ter Glasper to give the Hawkeyes experience in the backcourt. Andre Woolridge, a 6-1 transfer from Nebraska, looks to challenge at point guard and is expected to become one of Iowa's best players down the road. In the frontcourt Iowa returns their top returning scorer (15.7 ppg) and rebounder (7.5 rpg) in 6-7 sophomore Jess Settles. Settles, the 1991 Big Ten Freshman of the year, figures to be a strong inside force for the Hawkeyes. Starting at the other forward position will be 6-5 junior Kenyon Murray, who averaged 12.3 points per game and 5.8 rebounds per game last year. Battling for the center position will be 6-8 junior Russ Millard and 6-9 senior John Carter.

WILDCATS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: First-year coach Tom Asbury has a lot of work ahead. He must replace four seniors, including the league's most explosive scorer, Askia Jones, and one of the Big Eight's leading rebounders in Deryl Cunningham. However, with a highly touted recruiting class and the return of seniors Belvis Noland and Demond Davis, the Wildcats hope to be strong contenders in the Big Eight. The Wildcats will also be looking for 6-foot-10-inch sophomore center Kevin Lewis to provide some needed strength in the middle. Lewis struggled with injury his freshman year, but has the potential to be K-State's premier big man. The Wildcats also will be looking for the continued and improved development of 6-4 guard Brian Gavin, who provided the team with some needed depth off the bench and could be a starter this season.

TIGERS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Head Coach Larry Finch hopes an 18-day, eight-game Australian basketball tour over the summer will build some team unity amongst his five returning starters, top two scorers off the bench and All-America recruit Lorenzen Wright. The Tigers will be posting one of the finest front lines in college basketball with the return of All-America candidate David Vaughn, forward Cedric Henderson and Wright. The Tigers' backcourt is extremely deep and talented with the catquick Chris Garner, who was named to the GMC All-Newcomer team last year, newcomer Mingo Johnson and veterans Rodney Newsom, Deuce Ford and Justin Wimmer. Combined 87 percent of the teams scoring and 79 percent of the teams rebounding will be present for the 1994-95 season.

BEARS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Bears are looking to make great improvements on a disappointing 5-24 season in 1993-94. Mercer will be returning eight players, along with three redshirt players. Guard Will Tuttle, the team's leading scorer, returns as does perhaps one of the Trans America Conference's best front lines in 6-foot-8-inch senior center Jeff Belmer, 6-7 junior forward Ledon Green and redshirt junior forward Scott Farley. A pair of junior college guards - Chance Solomon and Reggie Elliott - join the team. They were among the Top 5 JUCO scorers in the state of Florida.

WOLVERINES SCOUTING REPORT

SPARTANS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Spartans return four of their five starters from a 20-12 team, including All-America guard Shawn Respert. Joining Respert in the backcourt is the Big Ten's assist leader, Eric Snow. The key to the Spartans success lies in their front-line performance. Junior Jamie Feick appears to be the leading candidate to take over at center role. The 6-foot-9-inch Feick was a member of the Big Ten all-star team that toured Europe over the summer, leading the team with an average of 6.3 rebounds per contest. Returning to the starting front line positions are juniors Quinton Brooks and Daimon Beathea who will add experience and athletic ability. Also vying for a front-line position is Jon Garavaglia, whose brings fine shooting and scoring talent to the lineup.

GOLDEN GOPHERS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Golden Gophers will look to improve upon last year's 21-win season with five seniors on their 1994-95 squad, four of whom will be starters this season. In the backcourt, second-team All-Big Ten and honorable mention All-America selection Voshon Lenard prepares to rewrite the Minnesota record books; he begins the season just 463 points shy of Michael Thompson's career scoring record. Starting alongside Lenard at point guard will be senior Townsend Orr, who's tenacious defense allowed him to accumulate 39 steals last season without ever fouling out of a game. In the frontcourt, Minnesota once again can boast experience as seniors Jayson Walton and Chad Kolander return to start in the three and four positions, respectively. The center position will be the only spot not held by a senior and will be up for grabs between sophomores John Thomas and Trevor Winter.

TIGERS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Two players who filled large roles for the Tigers last season will not be returning in 1994-95 - Big Eight Player of the Year and All-American Melvin Booker and forward Jevon Crudup. Returning to the starting lineup are 6-foot-5-inch senior guard/forward Julian Winfield and 6-7 sophomore forward Kelly Thames, the 1994 Big Eight Freshman-of-the-Year. Paul O'Liney also returns for his first full season with the Tigers after transferring to the school in December. The 6-2 guard returns as MU's top returning three-point shooter. Also returning and expected to make greater contributions are Marlo Finner, Derek Grimm and Jason Sutherland. The Tigers welcome a host of towering newcomers to the squad, including 7-0 twins Sammie and Simeon Haley.

Outlook: The Golden Eagles are coming off their most successful season ever in Division I play (17-11, second place ECC) and will be competing for the first year in the Mid-Continent Conference in 1994-95. Northeastern hopes to continue building the winning tradition in a pivotal season ahead in a new league. Coach Rees Johnson's team will feature quickness in the backcourt keyed by guards Marcus West and Brian Bestor. Front line starter Monte O'Quinn will be counted on for extended play and output by the Golden Eagles coaching staff. Craig Nowels is an experienced senior up front who finished the 1993-94 season with outstanding play at the East Coast Conference postseason tournament.

WILDCATS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Head Coach Ricky Byrdsong is looking to carry over some of the excitement created by last year's Wildcats squad. However, he may have a tough task, since four of his starters from a year ago graduated, leaving only Cedric Neloms as a returning starter. Along with Neloms, Northwestern returns Matt Purdy at the small-forward position. Critical to Northwestern's success is the healthy return of Evan Eschmeyer, who was forced to miss the entire season last year with a stress fracture in his right foot. The point guard position will be left to two inexperienced players, freshman Geno Carlisle and sophomore Jevon Johnson, who saw limited playing time last season. At the shooting guard position, Northwestern will look to Kenneth Lee, who provides Northwestern with a strong finisher on the transition as well as a spark in the half-court offense.

BUCKEYES SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: The Buckeyes will miss the absence of Lawrence Funderburke, their leading scorer and rebounder in 1993-94. The Buckeyes will be looking to improve upon a 13-16 record with the return of starting forward Antonio Watson and the addition of transfer Rick Yudt from Austin Peay.

NITTANY LIONS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Head Coach Bruce Parkhill's goals for the 1994-95 Nittany Lions are simple, a winning season and an invitation to NCAA postseason play. With the return of four starters, led by John Amaechi, Penn State has the experience and depth to reach its goals. Amaechi, a first-team Academic All-American, should provide the necessary leadership for the team and will be given support from a talented backcourt featuring Dan Earl and a couple of highly touted newcomers in guard Pete Lisicky and Damien McKnight. Joining the young players in the backcourt are seniors Greg Bartram and Donovan Williams. The early exit of forward Matt Gaudio makes the frontcourt a major concern for Parkhill. The Nittany Lions will be looking to Syracuse transfer Glenn Sekunda, along with senior Michael Joseph, to help fill the void left by Gaudio. Senior Greg Bartram may have to move back to the small forward position if junior Rahsaan Carlton is not consistent in his play.

PU SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Coach Pete Carril returns for his 27th year as the Tigers head coach and looks to improve on his team's impressive 11-3 Ivy League record a year ago. Unfortunately, that was only good enough to finish second behind the Pennsylvania Quakers who earned the NCAA bid with a 14-0 record. At the guard position, the Tigers have lost their team leader in Mike Brennan, but are still fairly solid at this position. Sophomore captain Sydney Johnson enters the year as the second-leading returning scorer. At the other guard, sophomore Jason Osier figures to be a force around the three-point arc. His 45.5 percent from downtown ranked second on the team last year behind Johnson. Junior Chris Doyal started all 26 games last season at forward and looks to improve on his 4.9 rebounds per game which were second on the team a year ago. At the other forward spot, junior Ben Hart is ready to step into the starting role. Hart played 11 games last year, averaging 1.7 ppg and 1.0 rpg. Senior center Rick Hielscher may have been the best player in the Ivy League during the second half of last year. He brings 825 points into his final year.

BOILERMAKERS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Head Coach Gene Keady is excited about the experience he has returning to the Boilermaker squad this year, despite the loss of Glenn Robinson. A highly regarded recruiting class and Roy Hairston, the Junior College National Player-of-the-Year have fans in West Lafayette excited about the upcoming season. The team's top returnees include senior guard Matt Waddell who earned honorable mention All-Big Ten honors last season. Purdue will also see the return of 6-foot-6-inch swingman Cuonzo Martin, a second team All-Big Ten selection. Other returning starters are point guard Porter Roberts, who had the team's second best assist per game average (4.1), and forward/center Brandon Brantley, who was the team leader in blocked shots with 38.

BADGERS SCOUTING REPORT

Outlook: Wisconsin returns one of its most talented teams in its history with four of five starters present again this year. Although point guard Tracy Webster will be missed, the Badgers will be looking to preseason All-America forward Michael Finley for leadership. Also returning to the lineup are center and rising star Rashard Griffith, senior guard Andy Kilbride and senior power-forward Brian Kelley. Looking to fill the void left by Webster is Darnell Hoskins, who averaged 11 minutes of action in 22 games a year ago. Freshman Sean Mason also will be competing for a backcourt position after averaging 21.3 points as a senior at Rich Central High. Providing the frontcourt with some depth is returning senior Howard Moore, a member of the Big Ten all-star team that competed in Argentina last summer.

The Big Ten Conference

A meeting of seven Midwest university presidents Jan. 11, 1895, at the Palmer House in Chicago, was the first development of what would become one of organized sports' most successful undertakings. Those seven men, behind the leadership of James H. Smart, president of Purdue University, established the principles for which the Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives, more popularly known as the Big Ten Conference, would be founded.

At that meeting, a blueprint for the control and administration of college athletics under the direction of appointed faculty representatives was outlined. The presidents' first known action was to "restrict eligibility for athletics to bonafide, full-time students who were not delinquent in their studies." This helped limit some problems of the times, especially the participation of professional athletes and "non-students" in the university's regular sporting events. That important legislation, along with others that would follow in the coming years, served as the primary building block for amateur intercollegiate athletics.

Eleven months after the presidents' meeting, one faculty member from each of those seven universities met again at the Palmer House, and officially established the mechanics of the "Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives," or "Big Ten Conference" or "Western Conference."

The seven universities were: the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois, the University of Michigan, the University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Purdue University and the University of Wisconsin. Indiana University and the State University of Iowa were admitted in 1899. Ohio State joined in 1912. Chicago withdrew in 1946, and Michigan State College (now Michigan State University) was added three years later in 1949.

After a 40-year period of constancy in membership, the Big Ten recently expanded to 11 members for the first time. On June 4, 1990, the Council of Ten, comprised of Big Ten university presidents, voted to confirm its earlier decision to integrate Pennsylvania State University into the conference. The Nittany Lions begin play in the Big Ten Conference in 1992-93.

At the turn of the century, faculty representatives established rules for intercollegiate athletics that were novel for the time. As early as 1906, the faculty approved legislation that required eligible athletes to meet entrance requirements and to have completed a full year's work, along with having one year of residence. Freshmen and graduate students were not permitted to compete, training tables (or quarters) were forbidden, and coaches were to be appointed by university bodies "at modest salaries."

Football and baseball were the popular sports prior to 1900. The first "official" sponsored championship was in outdoor track; it was held at the University of Chicago in 1906 and won by Michigan.

Since then, there have been many different athletic events popularized on Big Ten campuses. Some, like football and basketball, became extremely popular, while others, like boxing, fell by the wayside. Today, the Big Ten sponsors 12 championships for men and 12 for women.

1993-94 Season in Review

Illini end up-and-down season with fourth-place in Big Ten

The 1993-94 Illinois men's basketball season could be termed a moderate success. Expectations were rather high when preseason publications were printed. The Illini were picked between 14th and 25th in the nation, and from second to fourth in the Big Ten. But that was before veteran point guard and senior-to-be Rennie Clemons was declared academically ineligible.

"Naturally we would like to have finished a little higher in the Big Ten standings (than a tie for fourth) and gone a little further (than the opening round) in the NCAA tournament," Lou Henson, Illinois head coach, said. "but as well as Kiwane Garri played as a freshman, you can't ignore the contribution Rennie would have made. He was a tough competitor, and he would have helped us in many respects

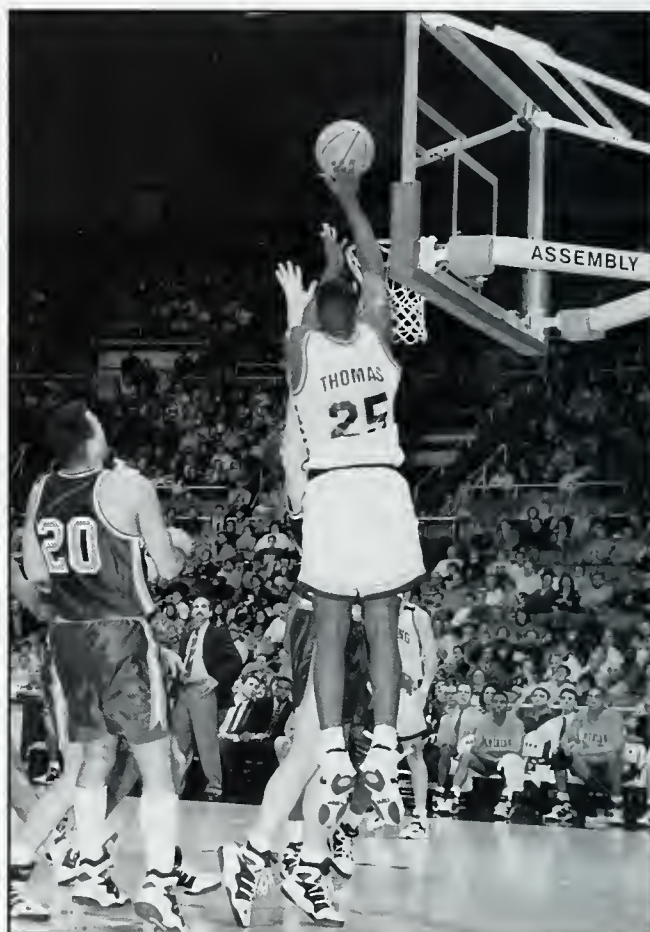

"Despite the fact that we played our newcomers a lot, we started a freshman at point guard, and that we had to have T.J. Wheeler play three positions for us, I was pleased with our performance. Our turnovers were way down (in 1993-94), we led the nation in rebounding (margin) for several weeks, and we finished in a tie for fourth place in the best league in the country."

The Fighting Illini got off to an impressive start, with 20-point-plus home victories over LaSalle (99-73) and Illinois-Chicago (101-80). Fifth-year senior Deon Thomas picked up where he left off the previous season, scoring 51 points in those two contests, and freshman Jerry Hester served notice that he eventually he would be a force to be reckoned with, scoring 16 points in 15 minutes of playing time in the opener.

Illinois fell victim to a good Marquette team (74-65) in its road debut. The Orange and Blue appeared to be operating in a fog at Milwaukee's Bradley Center, shooting a meager 36 percent from the field and losing the battle of the boards.

The Orange and Blue then won its 15th Illini/Pepsi Classic in as many tries with decisions over Morehead State (110-75) and American (108-84). It was with 5 minutes, 28 seconds left in the first half of the tournament's championship game that Illinois' season highlight took place. It was at that point that Thomas took a pass from Hester and hit a short turnaround jumper from the right baseline to register his 21st point of the game and the 1,693rd of his UI career, making him Illinois' all-time leading scorer. Thomas became the first-ever three-time Illini/Pepsi Classic MVP and four-time member of the all-tournament team. Hester and Garri joined Thomas on the 1993 all-tournament squad.

After a week of semester final exams, Illinois returned to action and promptly set a school record for margin of victory when it demolished Chicago State by 69 points, Deon Thomas became Illinois' all-time leading scorer with this basket against American.

121-52. Two days later a sloppy Fighting Illini team defeated Jackson State, 79-63, despite 36 percent shooting and 19 turnovers.

Illinois' second game of the season outside the Assembly Hall proved to be exciting, but frustrating. In the final Braggins' Rights series game at The Arena in St. Louis, the Orange and Blue erased a 61-48 Missouri advantage (at 12:37 left) with an 18-4 run, and extended the UI lead to nine with 2:23 remaining, but the Tigers' 14-5 run down the stretch sent the game into overtime. Ultimately, it was Illinois' 15-of-28 free-throw shooting in the last 2:28 of regulation and in the three overtimes that spelled defeat, 108-107.

After an unusual 10-day break from competition, the Illini completed the non-conference portion of their schedule with an impressive (83-78) home victory over a super-quick Texas team, but then started off the Big Ten season on the wrong foot, losing both Henson (ejected for two technical fouls) and the game (74-10) at Michigan State.

Illinois then sustained its home-court dominance over Northwestern (81-53) and boosted its season home record to 8-0.

Its first road victory finally came next when it traveled to Columbus. Garris took control of the game in the second half at Ohio State, scoring 15 of Illinois' final 22 points in an 83-75 victory. He had 31 in the game and became the first Big Ten freshman ever to have scored 30 or more points in successive contests when he dropped 33 points on Iowa in Champaign during another UI (105-90) victory.

The Michigan Wolverines ended the perfect Illini home season, storming out to a 20-point lead and surviving a career-high 23 points by Wheeler and a late rally by the hosts to win, 74-70.

Illinois' next venture on the road was a disaster. The Wisconsin Badgers held the Illini to their worst shooting of the season (.355) and their fewest points of the year in handing the visitors their fourth consecutive defeat (66-56) in Madison.

Just as things were looking bleak, Henson's forces came up with an outstanding effort Super Bowl Sunday on national television, ruling the boards in a home win (88-81) over Indiana.

Thomas tallied a double-double (18 points, 14 rebounds) and led the Illini to a decisive 83-65 victory at Penn State to open the month of February. He came back with 25 points in Illinois' next game a week later, helping the team to avenge its earlier loss to Michigan State.

But then it was back to the road, and the Fighting Illini sorely missed the injured Wheeler as they fell at Northwestern (79-68) for the second time in three seasons.

As the up-and-down Illinois basketball season entered its final month, the Illini welcomed Ohio State to the Assembly Hall and outshot the Buckeyes, 29-14, from the free-throw line en route to their 14th victory (80-68) of the season. Most of those charity tosses came from Thomas, who went 19-of-22 from the stripe to set an Illinois single-game record for both free throws and attempts.

The road was once again unkind to the Fighting Illini. They lost their 13th game in the last 14 tries at Iowa (83-69), failing miserably under the boards, 45-28. Then the first-place Michigan Wolverines made it six wins in a row over the Orange and Blue (79-70).

Illinois kept its NCAA tournament hopes alive with a 76-65 home triumph over Wisconsin. Seventy-four free throws were shot in that game, with the hosts' 37-of-43 performance from the line and their 38-24 dominance under the boards being the deciding factors.

As March began, the Illini had the unenviable task of playing at Indiana directly following the Hoosiers' worst defeat (106-56 at Minnesota) of the Bob Knight era. Illinois kept it close most of the way and actually outshot the Hoosiers from the field, but IU made 26 free throws to Illinois' eight and came away victorious, 82-77.

The Fighting Illini won their last two home games, over Penn State (84-59) and Minnesota (90-75), but didn't see another victory the rest of the season. Illinois' 51 percent shooting against the Nittany Lions was its first above .500 in 12 games. Thomas led the Illini with 23 points in that game. Against Minnesota, Illinois shot a remarkable 66 percent from the field in the first half to take a 27-point lead at the break. It was the final Assembly Hall appearance for Thomas, Tom Michael and Wheeler.

The Illini had assured themselves of an NCAA tournament berth, but Purdue was playing for a No. 1-seed in the nationally-televvised regular-season finale at West Lafayette. As it turned out, Purdue's Glenn Robinson said good-bye to the Boilermaker faithful with 49 points in his last game at Mackey Arena. Illinois had no answer for the Big Dog.

Illinois, seeded No. 8 in the Midwest Regional at Oklahoma City, drew No. 9-seed Georgetown in the opening round of the NCAA tournament. The shooting and rebounding statistics for the two teams were fairly even, but it was Illinois' season-high 23 turnovers that proved to be its undoing. The 84-77 loss left the Fighting Illini final record at 17-11.

Illinois tied Minnesota for fourth place in the Big Ten race with a 10-8 conference record. It was the 13th time in the last 14 years that the Illini put together a plus-.500 Big Ten record.

1993-94 Game-by-Game

LASALLE VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 1, 1993, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 99, LASALLE 73

Deon Thomas started off the 1993-94 season where he left off in 1992-93, as Illinois' high scorer. The senior scored 24 points while going 8-for-10 from the floor and grabbing nine rebounds. Four Illini saw significant action for the first time. Freshman Jerry Hester was impressive, scoring 16 points in just 15 minutes, and newcomers Shelly Clark, Kiwane Garris, and Chris Gandy all contributed to the Illini's victory. Senior guard T.J. Wheeler also pumped in 16 points, 13 in the second half. The Explorers were led by guard Kareem Townes, whose 39 points represented more than half of LaSalle's tallies. After hitting five out of its first six three point efforts, Illinois jumped out to a 46-31 halftime lead before turning its attention to Thomas and inside play the remainder of the game.

ILLINOIS-CHICAGO VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 4, 1993, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Illinois 101, Illinois-Chicago 80

Illinois' "Pair in the Paint" dominated this contest, which saw UI reach the century mark for the first time since 1990. Deon Thomas and Shelly Clark combined for 56 points and 22 rebounds, and Richard Keene dished out a career-high 12 assists to lead the Illini. The first half proved to be tight as both teams exchanged early treys. Illinois, however, failed to take advantage of UIC foul trouble, connecting on only 7-of-17 free throw attempts and, thus, led by only four at the break. In the second half, Illinois turned to the inside and allowed Thomas and Clark to handle most of the scoring. The Illini also made 8-of-10 from the charity stripe to seal the victory. The Flames were led by Sherrell Ford, who poured in 29 points to go along with his 10 rebounds, and by guard Kenny Williams, who added 16. Keene scored 14 to go along with his frequent assists.

ILLINOIS VS. MARQUETTE

Dec. 7, 1993, Bradley Center, Milwaukee, Wis.

MARQUETTE 74, ILLINOIS 65

Illinois was without direction on its first road trip and fell victim to a motivated Marquette team for the second year in the row. The Illini shot just 36 percent from the field and 60 percent from the free throw line in the defeat. The game was close throughout, but Illinois could never grab the lead after trailing by two at the half. With the game tied at 54 with 8:31 to go, Marquette's Robb Logterman connected on a trey to put his team up for good. Illinois, down 66-62 with four minutes to play, could not score again until the 10-second mark. Deon Thomas was only 6-of-14, getting in early foul trouble and failing to convert two layups down the stretch. Marquette was led by Logterman and Damon Key, who each had 18.

MOREHEAD STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 10, 1993, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.
(Illini Classic)

ILLINOIS 110, MOREHEAD STATE 75

Illinois opened the 1993 Illini Classic just as it had in all previous 14, with a win. Deon Thomas recovered from his frustrating Marquette trip to shoot 11-of-13 from the field and ended the game with 26 points. The Fighting Illini jumped out to a 8-0 lead from the tip and never trailed in the game. The Orange and Blue outrebounded its opponents 55-29, and the Illini bench outscored MSU's 48-18. Thomas, who became Illinois' No. 2 all-time scorer early in the first half, led all players. Kiwane Garriss pumped in 17 points to go along with his seven assists, and Shelly Clark added 12 tallies. Guard Mark Majick scored 23 points for Morehead State.

AMERICAN VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 11, 1993, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.
(Illini Classic Championship Game)

* Thomas becomes UI Career Scoring Leader *

ILLINOIS 108, AMERICAN 84

Deon Thomas hit a turnaround jumper from 4-feet out with 5:28 to go in the first half to give him his 21st point of the game and his 1,693th career point. The bucket made him the University of Illinois' all-time career scoring leader, surpassing Eddie Johnson (1,692). Thomas went on to score 31 points in the game, and Illinois won its 15th consecutive Illini Classic. Besides Thomas, five other Illini scored in double figures. Jerry Hester continued to dazzle off the bench, contributing 20 points and six assists. Chris Gandy added another 16. The Illini set an Illini Classic record for most rebounds in a championship game, winning the battle of the boards, 56-31. The Eagles were led by Tim Fudd, who scored 22.

CHICAGO STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 18, 1993, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 121, CHICAGO STATE 52

Illinois showed little rust after taking a week long break from competition, crushing the Cougars, 121-52. The 69-point spread was the largest margin of victory ever for an Illinois team, bettering a 67 point victory set in 1943. The game was decided by halftime as the Illini led by 31 at the intermission. In the half, Chicago State was held without a field goal during three separate stretches lasting three minutes or more. Kiwane Garriss led all scorers with 16 points at the half. For the game, Garriss was practically perfect. He went 6-for-6 from the field, with three treys, was 8-for-8 from the free throw line, had six assists and no turnovers. All dressed Illinois players saw action and nine scored in double figures. Steve Roth, a crowd favorite, came off the bench and produced career-high 10 points and eight rebounds in 21-minutes of lopsided action.

JACKSON STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 20, 1993, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 79, JACKSON STATE 63

Illinois shot just 36 percent from the field and 45 percent from the free throw line in the second half on a sloppy night of basketball. After a 69-point victory two days earlier, the Illini committed 19 turnovers and missed many scoring opportunities but still managed to defeat a talented Jackson State team, 79-63. The Tigers jumped out to an early lead, but with 12:11 left in the first half, Richard Keene nailed a three pointer to put Illinois up, 14-13, and give the Illini a lead they would never relinquish. Jackson State stayed within striking distance in the second half but was never able to pull closer than seven, due in part to 18 second half fouls, poor free throw shooting, and 31 percent shooting effort in the half. Deon Thomas led Illinois with 24 points and 14 boards, while Ryan Lorthridge scored 24 for the Tigers.

MISSOURI VS. ILLINOIS

Dec. 22, 1993, The Arena, St. Louis, Mo.

MISSOURI 108, ILLINOIS 107 (3 OT)

Illinois and Missouri battled into three overtimes before the Tigers outlasted the Illini 108-107 in this classic Braggin' Rights contest. The game was made up of a series of second-half streaks. Illinois trailed 61-48 with 12:37 to go before Richard Keene hit two threes and UI outscored Missouri, 18-4, to take the lead. The Illini had stretched their margin to nine with 2:23 left, but Missouri fought back. The Tigers scored 14 points to Illinois' five in the last 2:13 to tie the game at 79 after regulation. The first two overtimes saw Illinois strike first, but fail to hold down the Tigers in the end. Missouri, however, hit a trey to begin the third extra period, and never trailed again. The deciding factor proved to be Illinois' meager free throw shooting, hitting only 15-28 (54 percent) from the 2:26 mark of regulation through the end of the game, including missing two free throws with no time remaining at the end of the second overtime.

TEXAS VS. ILLINOIS

Jan. 2, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 83, TEXAS 78

Illinois' inside attack proved too much for the strong Texas guard play, as the Illini avenged last season's loss in Austin. Illinois committed only 17 turnovers after making 25 the year before. Deon Thomas and Shelly Clark combined for 35 points, while Texas' B.J. Tyler and Terrence Rencher joined forces to score 45 points. The Longhorns led throughout much of the first half. Illinois went ahead, 26-25, with 6:50 to go in the first and never trailed again. The Illini led by as many as 13 before Texas nailed three treys to make the score, 79-76, with just 52 seconds to play. Illinois, however, converted just enough of their late free throws to hold off the surging Longhorns.

MICHIGAN STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Jan. 8, 1994, Breslin Center, East Lansing, Mich.

MICHIGAN STATE 79, ILLINOIS 74

The Fighting Illini opened their Big Ten season losing to the Spartans, 79-74, in East Lansing. Illinois could never get on track offensively, and Michigan State's aggressive style of play proved to be too much for the Illini to handle. Deon Thomas was held to only seven points, the first time in 54 games he failed to reach double figures. Illinois coach Lou Henson overshadowed the players by receiving two technical fouls and an ejection with 2:38 left in the game and Illinois trailing by one. Although the Illini stayed in the game until the end, they were never able to recover from the multiple foul shots from Shawn Respert. Respert ended the contest with a game-high 27 points.

ILLINOIS VS. NORTHWESTERN

Jan. 12, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 81, NORTHWESTERN 53

Illinois' defense stifled the Wildcats in the second half and Deon Thomas returned to his old form as Illinois earned its first conference win of the year, 81-53. Northwestern led up until the 10-minute mark of the first half and was within five of the Illini at the break after shooting 55 percent from the field, including four three-pointers. In the second half, Illinois held the Wildcats to under 20 percent from the floor and no treys. Illinois outscored NU, 30-14 in the first 12 minutes of the second half to increase its lead to 20. Thomas led all players with 25 points, while T.J. Wheeler added 15. Northwestern was led by guard Todd Leslie, who scored 13.

ILLINOIS VS. OHIO STATE

Jan. 15, 1994, St. John's Arena, Columbus, Ohio

ILLINOIS 83, OHIO STATE 75

The Illini snapped a three-game road losing streak and evened their Big Ten record by beating Ohio State, 83-75, in Columbus. Freshman Kiwane Garris took control of the game, scoring 15 of Illinois' final 22 points and 31 for the game. Illinois never trailed in the game and led by as many as 16 with 15 minutes left. OSU could only whittle the margin to three before the Illini scored seven consecutive points to take a 77-71 lead with just over two minutes to play. UI outrebounded the Buckeyes, 41-30. Shelly Clark grabbed 11 boards in addition to his 15 points. Ohio State was led by Greg Simpson, who scored 16.

IOWA VS. ILLINOIS

Jan. 19, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 105, IOWA 90

Kiwane Garris set a career high for points (33) and assists (9) and drew many ovals from the 16,011 fans, helping Illinois to its first 100-point Big Ten game since 1990. Hot shooting prevailed throughout this contest. Illinois hit 20-of-33 shots in the first half, while Iowa nailed 16-of-27. Both squads connected on seven first-half treys. The Haweyes led early, but the Illini took a 10-8 lead with 14:07 in the first half and never looked back. They stretched their lead to as many as 25 in the second half. Illinois ended the game shooting a season-high .613 from the field. Deon Thomas scored 22 and T.J. Wheeler added 15 for the Illini. Iowa was lead by Jim Bartels and Kenyon Murray, who each set career highs for scoring.

MICHIGAN VS. ILLINOIS

Jan. 23, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

MICHIGAN 74, ILLINOIS 70

Illinois fell behind by 20 points early, fought back to take the lead, but failed to hold on for the win as the 15th-ranked Wolverines handed Illinois its only home loss of the season. Michigan led, 25-9, midway through the first half thanks to Jalen Rose's 12 points and (recovering chicken pox victim) Juwan Howard's six. Michigan shot 65 percent for the half while Illinois shot only 31 percent. The Illini cut the lead to 10 at the break and outshot Michigan in the second half. When Jerry Hester hit two free throws with 9:28 to go, Illinois gained its first lead, 59-58. After trading the lead several times, Michigan remained cool down the stretch and outscored UI, 11-5, in the last 6:30 to seal the victory. Rose ended with 28 points while Howard contributed 20. T.J. Wheeler scored a career high 23, with two clutch second half treys, to pace Illinois.

ILLINOIS VS. WISCONSIN

Jan. 25, 1994, Wisconsin Fieldhouse, Madison, Wis.

WISCONSIN 66, ILLINOIS 56

Wisconsin used a strong defense to hold Illinois to a season-low 56 points while beating UI for the fourth consecutive time in Madison. Illinois trailed the whole game and never seemed to get in synch. The Illini shot only 35 percent from the floor, and Kiwane Garrison and T.J. Wheeler went a combined 6-for-25. Rashard Griffith was a force in the lane, blocking five shots and causing havoc all night long. Michael Finley led both teams with 17 points. Brian Kelley added 12. Deon Thomas scored 16 for Illinois, and Jerry Hester pumped in 14. Wheeler played well defensively and grabbed nine rebounds.

INDIANA VS. ILLINOIS

Jan. 30, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 88, INDIANA 81

After six consecutive losses at the hands of the Hoosiers, Illinois put together its best performance to date and defeated Indiana on national television. The game, played on Super Bowl Sunday, was decided when the Illini went on a 9-0 run midway through the first half to take a 28-21 lead. The lead would increase to 15 in the second half before IU rallied to make it a seven-point margin. Richard Keene and Robert Bennett, two players who hadn't previously hit their strides, made the difference for Illinois. Keene scored a team-high 19 points with five assists, and Bennett added 11 points with a team-high seven rebounds. Rebounding was a deciding factor in the game, with Illinois winning the battle of the boards, 39-20. Deon Thomas contributed 19 points for the Illini, while the Hoosiers were led by Brian Evans, who scored a career-high 24 points with six three pointers.

PENN STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Feb. 2, 1994, Rec Hall, University Park, Pa.

ILLINOIS 83, PENN STATE 65

Five Illini players scored in double figures and Illinois outrebounded Penn State by 14 to win its second consecutive Big Ten game. The usually intimidating Rec Hall did not phase the Illini, as the visitors jumped out to leads of 15-3 and 21-8 before taking a 43-22 lead at halftime. Illinois used good ball movement, defense and rebounding to assure that the Nittany Lions would never be able to cut dramatically into its lead. Deon Thomas finished with a game-high 18 points and 14 boards. Richard Keene continued to improve adding 15 points, including 3-of-4 from three-point range. John Amaechi and Matt Gaudio each had 13 for PSU.

MICHIGAN STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Feb. 9, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 72, MICHIGAN STATE 64

Illinois rebounded from an ugly first half with a brilliant second frame and avenged the early-season loss to the Spartans with a 72-64 victory. Deon Thomas hit 6-of-11 shots in the first half, but the rest of the team struggled, going 3-for-17. MSU outscored the Illini, 16-7, through the middle of the first half and stretched its lead to 10 before two consecutive T.J. Wheeler treys pulled UI within one at halftime. Illinois opened the second half by connecting on 10 of its first 14 shots and hit four three pointers to take an eight-point lead with 6:06 remaining. The Spartans cut it to three, but Illinois held on down the stretch for the eight-point win. Thomas ended with 25 points, while Wheeler scored 15 with a team-high five rebounds. Michigan State's Shawn Respert played a sensational game, hitting 10-of-14 shots for 27 points.

ILLINOIS VS. NORTHWESTERN

Feb. 12, 1994, Welsh-Ryan Arena, Evanston, Ill.

NORTHWESTERN 79, ILLINOIS 68

Illinois was once again outshot by its opponents. Richard Keene, Robert Bennett and Shelly Clark failed to score any points, as the Wildcats picked up their first Big Ten win of the season. The Illini fell behind by 14 early and by 12 at the break. After UI started the second half with a rally to pull within five, Northwestern went on a 9-0 run and held off the struggling visitors for the remainder of the game. With the loss, Illinois' hopes for the Big Ten title virtually disappeared. T.J. Wheeler failed to play due to illness and a strained groin muscle. The Wildcats placed four players in double figures with Kevin Rankin and Patrick Baldwin each scoring 21. Deon Thomas led UI with a game-high 28 tallies.

OHIO STATE VS. ILLINOIS

Feb. 15, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 80, OHIO STATE 68

Deon Thomas set an Illinois record for free throws and the Illini placed four players in double figures as UI swept the season series from the Buckeyes. Illinois took the lead just over two minutes into the game and never trailed again, putting the contest away with a 16-4 run midway in the second half. Thomas made a school record 19 free throws en route to scoring a game-high 24 points. Kiwane Garris scored 20, and Shelly Clark and Tom Michael added 13 and 12 points, respectively. OSU's Greg Simpson and Jamie Skelton each scored 16.

ILLINOIS VS. IOWA

Feb. 12, 1994, Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Iowa City, Iowa

IOWA 83, ILLINOIS 69

Illinois lost at Iowa for the 13th time in 14 tries because of three reasons, cold shooting, foul trouble and poor rebounding. The Hawkeyes badly outrebounded the conference's best rebounding team, 45-28, and committed 15 fewer fouls than Illinois. The Illini shot just 31 percent in the first half and fell behind by 15 at the break. UI began the second period with a 14-3 run to cut the lead to two and stayed close before a late Hawkeye 10-2 run put the game away. Iowa's Chris Kingsbury scored a game-high 20 points, while Jess Settles scored 17. Illinois was led by Deon Thomas, who pumped in 13.

ILLINOIS VS. MICHIGAN

Feb. 23, 1994, Crisler Arena, Ann Arbor, Mich.

MICHIGAN 79, ILLINOIS 70

The Michigan Wolverines stayed atop the Big Ten standings with their sixth consecutive win over the Fighting Illini. Standouts Juwan Howard and Jalen Rose combined for 45 points and 16 rebounds, while Jimmy King added 16. Illinois hung with the Wolverines early, but a 10-minute scoreless streak starting with 7:42 left in the first half hurt the Illini. After falling down by 18 points with just over 11-minutes to go, UI cut the lead to five. Michigan, however, never flinched down the stretch. T.J. Wheeler and Deon Thomas played exceptionally well, each scoring 16.

WISCONSIN VS. ILLINOIS

Feb. 27, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 76, WISCONSIN 65

Illinois kept its NCAA tournament hopes alive by beating the Badgers for the 13th consecutive time at home and to improve to 15-8 overall and 8-6 in the Big Ten. In an intensely physical game, both teams shot poorly and fouled often, but UI converted more than 90 percent of its free throws and won the battle of the boards, 38-24. Illinois led from start to finish, using an 11-2 run midway through the first half to break the game open. Kiwane Garrison was UI's top scorer with 21 points, 16 of which came from the charity stripe. He also had a game and career-high eight rebounds. Deon Thomas added 16. Wisconsin's Michael Finley led all scorers with 27.

ILLINOIS VS. INDIANA

March 1, 1994, Assembly Hall, Bloomington, Ind.

INDIANA 82, ILLINOIS 77

After defeating the Hoosiers earlier in the season, Illinois tried to make it two-in-row against Indiana. The Hoosiers were coming off their worst defeat in the Knight-era, a 106-56 shellacking by Minnesota. Illinois stayed close throughout the first half, trailing only by four at the break. But Indiana came out smoking in the second half, going on a 10-0 run and putting the game out of reach. Illinois made a comeback and pulled to within three with 13 seconds remaining, but Todd Leary made two free throws to ice the game for the Hoosiers. Illinois had 13 three-pointers in the contest, many late in the second half, but shot only 40 percent from the free throw line. Illinois was led by freshman Kiwane Garrison, who finished the night 8-of-12 from the field and 5-of-6 from behind the arc for a game-high 22 points.

PENN STATE VS. ILLINOIS

March 5, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 84, PENN STATE 59

For the first time in 12 games Illinois shot better than .500 from the field, and the Illini never trailed as they swept the season series from the Nittany Lions. The victory improved UI's conference record to 9-7 and kept the team's hopes of a NCAA tournament birth alive. Jerry Hester dazzled the sellout crowd of 16,321 with 12 first-half points which helped Illinois take a 10-point lead at the intermission. The Illini went on a 15-3 run midway through the second half to increase the lead to 20. Deon Thomas led all scorers with 23 points, while Hester ended with 19.

MINNESOTA VS. ILLINOIS

March 9, 1994, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

ILLINOIS 90, MINNESOTA 75

Playing in the last home game of their careers, Illinois seniors Deon Thomas, Tom Michael, T.J. Wheeler and Gene Cross propelled UI convincingly past the Golden Gophers. The victory, Illinois' 17th overall and 10th in the conference, virtually assured the Orange and Blue of a return trip to the NCAA tournament. Illinois shot a remarkable 66 percent from the floor in the first half and connected on 9-of-13 three point attempts to take a 27-point lead at halftime. The run-and-gun Golden Gophers couldn't find their shooting touch all night, and Illinois' defense prevented Minnesota from converting on most fast-break opportunities. In an emotional Assembly Hall finale, Thomas scored 17 points. Jerry Hester tied his career high, pumping in 20. Minnesota's Voshon Lenard led all scorers with 24 tallies.

ILLINOIS VS. PURDUE

March 13, 1994, Mackey Arena, West Lafayette, Ind.

PURDUE 87, ILLINOIS 77

In this nationally-televised CBS game, Purdue was playing for a top seed in the NCAA tournament and the outright Big Ten title, while Illinois was playing for a higher at-large seed in the 64-team field. The Boilermakers achieved their goals as Glenn Robinson scored a remarkable 49 points and dominated the game. Illinois, which was playing without T.J. Wheeler, actually played one of its better games of the season, despite losing. The Illini played right with the Boilermakers throughout the game and trailed by only two points with 9 minutes to go, but then Robinson scored 15 points in the next five minutes to solidify the lead for the home team. Deon Thomas scored 22 points, 19 of which came in the second half, to lead Illinois.

ILLINOIS VS. GEORGETOWN

March 18, 1994, Myriad Convention Center, Oklahoma City, Okla.
(NCAA First Round)

GEORGETOWN 84, ILLINOIS 77

The eighth-seeded Fighting Illini received a tough draw in the opening round of the NCAA Midwest Regional, battling Big East powerhouse Georgetown. The Hoyas were riding high after a surprise second-place finish in the Big East Tournament, while the Illini were coming off a loss to Purdue. Illinois came out of the blocks shooting 53.8 percent from the field in the first half, but still found itself trailing, 38-37. The Fighting Illini fought back in the second half and seemed in control with a 73-67 lead with less than seven minutes remaining. But one of the Illini's season-high 23 turnovers produced the beginning of a Hoya comeback, led by guard George Butler. Butler was a one-man wrecking crew, scoring 18 of the Hoyas' final 27 points in leading all scorers. Illinois scored only four points in the final 6:49 as Georgetown rallied for an 84-77 victory. Deon Thomas finished with a team high 19-points on 7-for-8 shooting to end his illustrious career with 2,129 career points.

All-Time Game-By-Game Scores

(note: all Big Ten Conference games in bold; also Big Ten record in bold; Illinois score listed on left)

Elwood Brown

1 year
(6-8)

Leo Hana was put in charge of building the basketball program at Illinois after a women's program had existed for years. A team, led by its playing captain Roy Riley, beat Champaign High School Jan. 6, two weeks before Hana was able to replace Riley with a "professional" coach. Elwood Brown became Illinois' first basketball coach Jan. 20, 1906, and proceeded to turn in a commendable coaching job, especially since the squad lost two of its mainstays during the season. "The results of the season were on the whole satisfactory. In the future, there will not be such a lack of material as hampered the coach (Brown) this season," wrote the 1907 Illio.

F. L. Pinckney

(1-10)

Pinckney took over the coaching reins for a year in 1907. There was promise for a good season after the solid start the program had made in 1906. More than 100 men tried out for the team. Pinckney found at least three freshman he thought would help the team and placed them on the varsity squad. However, the Western Conference Committee declared the three ineligible, leaving Pinckney with a much depleted team and Illinois with its worst record ever. The decision to make the freshmen ineligible gave Pinckney the same problem Brown faced the year before - turning out a winning team with limited talent.

Fletcher Lane

1 year
(20-6)

Fletcher Lane's all-time best winning percentage among Illinois coaches is misleading, since he only coached for one year. His 20-6 team of 1908 benefited from a long Southern trip in which the team beat several YMCA and club teams from Tennessee, Texas, Alabama, and Georgia. The club was billed as a closely-knit group, due in part to the long trip. The players, however, did not appear to appreciate Lane's coaching style. M.G. Dadant, the 1908 captain wrote, "Handicapped as they were by the lack of any competent coaching, the players went through the season in perfect harmony, each one relinquishing any personal feelings that the team might be better as a whole."

H. V. Juul

2 years
(12-10)

H. V. Juul became the first Illinois basketball coach to stay for more than one year. He also became the first former Fighting Illini player to head the Illinois basketball program and was captain of the 1907 squad. After leading Illinois to a 12-10 record over two years, he departed to become a professional baseball player, enjoying stints with the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds. Juul was the son of a former Illinois Congressman and, prior to his death in 1928, was a committeeman in the 35th Ward in Chicago as well as was campaign director for the Republican Party headquarters at the Morrisson Hotel in Chicago.

Ralph Jones8 years

After arriving at Illinois from Purdue, Ralph Jones left an impressive legacy behind in Champaign. Besides coaching freshman football and baseball during his tenure at Illinois, he was credited by some with originating the fast break in basketball. After leading the Fighting Illini to one outright crown and the sharing of one other conference championship, Jones left to coach at Wabash and eventually Lake Forest Academy. In addition, Jones was head coach of the Chicago Bears from 1930-33, where, among other achievements, he was credited with the revival of the T-formation, and the use of a man in motion to throw the defense off.

T. E. Thompson2 years
(14-14)

T. E. Thompson also had a two-year career as head basketball coach at Illinois, compiling a 14-14 record. Thompson claimed, at the time, to be the only player in Western Conference history to have played five years of collegiate basketball. He was at Northwestern for one year before playing at Illinois for four additional seasons. In addition to his duties as basketball coach at Illinois in 1911-12, he also served as Athletic Director George Huff's only assistant in the athletic department, doubling as the school's general manager of athletics and as ticket manager. After leaving the university, he founded The Thomas Thompson Company in Highland Park, Ill., a manufacturer of enamel products.

Frank Winters

2 years
(25-12)

While in his two-year stint as coach of the Illinois basketball team, Frank Winters was faced with having only a handful of veteran players available and was forced into installing an entirely new system of play. His 25-12 record in two years was a testament to the way Winters made negatives into positives. Upon arriving as head coach in the fall of 1920, he inherited a team whose best player, Chuck Carney, had just severely injured his knee in the last football game. Nonetheless, the team went on to an 11-7 record and improved to 14-5 in the 1922 campaign.

J. Craig Ruby

14 years
(148-97)

J. Craig Ruby was known as one of the great basketball tacticians of his time. He and legendary Kansas coach Phog Allen actively campaigned together for higher baskets to offset the advantage of tall centers. Ruby alone advocated the elimination of the dribble to do away with stalling, and wanted the hoop enlarged to 20 inches in diameter rather than the standard 18. Ruby's second season at Illinois produced a tie for the Big Ten championship in 1924, but it was not until 1935 that he could lead his team to tie for top conference honors again.

Douglas R. Mills

11 years
(1951-66)

Doug Mills was not only an extremely successful basketball coach at Illinois, but one of the University's most prolific and long-standing administrators. He began his association with Fighting Illini athletics as a standout in both football and basketball. He starred in the backfield for legendary football coach Robert Zuppke from 1927-29 and helped the Illini win the national championships in '29. He also lettered for J. Craig Ruby's basketball squads from 1928-30. Mills became the first Illinois head basketball coach to lead his squad to three Big Ten crowns. Also included in his 11-year coaching tenure was the formation of the legendary "Whiz Kids" team of 1942 and '43. That team won back-to-back Big Ten crowns and captured the imagination of the entire nation with his high-speed brand of basketball. After retiring from the coaching ranks in 1947, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Harry Combes

(316-150)

Harry Combes only had to move across town after accepting the job as head coach at Illinois. Prior to joining the Illini, he had been head coach at Champaign High School where he posted an astounding 254-46 record, including winning the state title in 1946. Once at Illinois he won three Big Ten titles in his first five seasons ('49, '51 and '52). It was also Combes who led the Fighting Illini to three third-place finishes in the NCAA Tournament in the four-year period from 1949-52. The squad won 79 of the 100 games during those four years. Illinois' 1952 Final Four appearance was the first officially recognized Final Four and the only Final Four appearance Illinois made until 1989. Until Lou Henson broke the record in 1990, Combes' 316 wins were the most wins ever by an Illinois head basketball coach. His 20 years as Illinois mentor still ranks as the longest coaching tenure in Illinois basketball history.

Harv Schmidt7 years
(89-77)

Harv Schmidt, a former all-time great player at Illinois, returned to his alma mater in 1968 after serving as an assistant at New Mexico for three years. Within three years of his arrival, he had brought Illinois back to among the elite programs in the Big Ten. The beginning of his tenure marked what possibly was the high-water mark in fan enthusiasm. Illinois led the nation in attendance in 1970, averaging 16,128 per home contest, as students routinely camped out for tickets outside the newly opened, state-of-the-art Assembly Hall.

Gene Bartow

1 year
(8-18)

Brought to Illinois to continue the magical rebuilding jobs he had undertaken at Valparaiso and Memphis State. Gene Bartow was counted on by Athletic Director Cecil Coleman to restore the successful level of play fans had become accustomed to in the past few decades. However, Bartow's stay in Champaign was short-lived, lasting only one year and producing an 8-18 record. The lure away from Illinois was a strong one for Bartow: he was hired away by UCLA to replace legendary Bruin coach John Wooden.

Lou Henson

19 years
(386-199)

Lou Henson, the all-time winningest coach in Illinois basketball history, currently ranks No. 7 on the all-time active coaching list for wins with 626. Upon arriving in Champaign, he resurrected the Illinois program to where it once stood and in the ensuing years, brought Illinois basketball to heights never attained before. Illinois has become a national power under Henson, being selected to the NCAA tournament ten times in all, including eight times during the 1980s. The highlight of the postseason competition came in 1989 when the spectacular Flying Illini team won a school-record 31 contests and was narrowly defeated by Michigan in a national semifinal game in Seattle. Henson's Illini were also seeded among the top four in their regional for six consecutive years (1984-89) for the second-longest such streak (next to North Carolina) ever. Illinois finished in the upper division in the Big Ten nine consecutive seasons (1983-91), and had 11 straight years of producing a plus-500 Big Ten record from 1981 to 1991, the fifth-longest streak of that kind in Big Ten history.

The Fighting Illini won their 14th consecutive Illini/Pepsi Classic in 1993.

The History of Illinois Basketball

When representatives of the University of Illinois met Dec. 2, 1905, along with officials of six other schools, not only was the Big Ten Conference formed, Illinois basketball was also born.

Since then, the Fighting Illini program has grown to national prominence, gaining a place among the country's elite basketball programs. In the ensuing 89 seasons, Illinois has been at the forefront of the Big Ten conference, as well as the national college basketball world. In those 89 seasons, Illinois has produced a 1261-699 record, one of the top-20 win totals in the nation. Its .574 all-time winning percentage in Big Ten games is among the best in the conference.

The job of head basketball coach at Illinois has been a model of consistency throughout the 89 years. Only 13 men have served in the position, and there have only been six head coaches since 1923.

The inaugural 1906 team was coached by Elwood Brown and finished 6-8, 2-6 in conference. The first game in Illinois' basketball history was a 71-4 romp over Champaign High School in Urbana. Brown left after one season and was replaced by F.L. Pinekney. That 1907 season would turn out to be the worst season in Illinois basketball history. Pinekney guided the Fighting Illini to a 1-10 record, with a 0-8 conference record. The one victory marks the least wins ever by an Illinois team, and the winless conference record has also never been repeated. Among the lowlights was a 42-3 loss to Minnesota, marking the fewest points ever scored by an Illinois team.

With no place to go but up, the Illinois program welcomed its third head coach in three years when Fletcher Lane took over and guided Illinois to its biggest one-year turnaround in history. He posted a 20-6 record, 4-4 in conference play. Lane also left Illinois after his first and only season. He departed as the Fighting Illini's all-time leader in winning percentage at .769.

Herb V. Juul took over for Lane and became the first Illinois coach to stay in Champaign for more than one year. His two-year record was 13-10 overall, and 10-10 in conference, good for fourth-place finishes both years.

T.E. Thompson took over for Juul in 1911 and also stayed two seasons, finishing his career 14-14 overall, 10-13 in conference, good for fourth and fifth places respectively.

The next eight years, from 1913-20, marked the first prolonged period of success in Illinois basketball history. Much of the success was due to head coach Ralph Jones, who had only one losing season during his eight years as head coach. He finished with an 85-34 record.

Illinois' best conference record to that point occurred in 1914, when the Fighting Illini went 7-3 in the Big Ten and 9-4 overall. That year set the stage for the 1915 season, arguably the best Illinois team ever.

Jones' 1915 team scored more than twice as many points as its opponents and won the conference title by a whopping three games over Chicago. The 1915 team started a three-year period in Illinois basketball history that has rarely been matched.

The arrival of the Woods brothers in 1915 had a lot to do with the success of this era. Guard Ray was named first team All-America all three years he competed (1915-17), and brother Ralf, a forward, led the team in scoring in both 1916 and 1917. His brilliance at the foul line led to the establishment of the Ralf Woods Award, which is still given annually to the Fighting Illini player with the best free-throw percentage.

Led by the Woods brothers, the 1916 team fell short of capturing another conference championship. The squad lost only three games, but all were in within the conference. Illinois finished 13-3 overall, 9-3 in the conference. Two losses to Northwestern and a loss to eventual champion Wisconsin dropped Illinois into a second-place tie with the Wildcats.

Among those two losses to Northwestern was Illinois' first-ever overtime game. Northwestern scored just two points in the overtime period to defeat Illinois, 23-21, Feb. 12, 1916, at what is now the Kenney Gym Annex.

The 1917 season would bring Jones his second and last Big 9 championship, this time tying with Minnesota for top honors. The 1917 team also featured a starting guard named George Halas. The professional football pioneer and Chicago Bear owner and head coach was known on the team for his gritty defense and would be named captain of the 1918 team before entering the armed forces January 18, 1918.

Frank Winters took over the head coaching duties in 1921 and would only stay at that post for two years. His 25-12 overall career record would yield two fourth-place ties in conference play.

To replace Winters, Athletic Director George Huff looked to J. Craig Ruby, who had just completed his first year as head coach of Missouri. Known as one of the great tacticians of his time, Ruby favored a number of revolutionary rules change proposals, including advocating the elimination of the dribble to do away with stalling.

Ruby's first three seasons at Illinois produced three very good teams, which went 30-18 overall and tied for the conference title in 1924. After Ruby's first three years at Illinois his coaching magic wore off for almost a decade. It wouldn't be until 1935 that the Fighting Illini would finish in the top three spots in the conference again.

The 1934 team set the stage for the 1935 championship team when it posted a 13-6 overall mark and 7-5 conference record, good for fourth place. The only non-conference loss that season was a stunning 22-21 opening-game loss to St. Louis at newly-opened Huff Gym.

The 1935 squad got off to a busy start. A season-opening double-header at Huff Gym before 6,205 fans Dec. 10 left Illinois at 1-1 to open the season. A young sophomore guard named Harry Combes scored the first points of the season and showed great speed. He would later become Illinois' head coach in 1948. The squad was only 5-3 after eight Big Ten games, but rallied to win its last four contests to tie Purdue and Wisconsin for the title.

In 1936, Ruby's last Illinois team was 13-6 overall and 7-5 (and tied for third) in the conference. Combes, Jim Vopicka, and Robert Riegel combined to score more than half of Illinois' points that year.

The man chosen to replace Ruby was Douglas Mills. He became one of Illinois' most successful coaches and administrators as well. In his 11-year tenure as head coach, Mills became the first Fighting Illini head coach to win or share three Big Ten championships.

Mills' Illinois coaching career began in stellar fashion in 1937 with a tie for the Big Ten championship. With Combes, Riegel, and Vopicka back, Illinois had much of its firepower returning. Future major league baseball hall of famer Lou Boudreau made the biggest impact, however, leading the team in scoring.

The 1938 season proved to be a tough year with the departure of many stars. Boudreau was still the leader and was named first team All-America by Madison Square Garden. In the four years after the championship of '37, the best finish Illinois could muster would be third in 1939 and a tie for third-place in 1941.

In 1941, Art Mathisen arrived in Champaign in what would precede the magical years of 1942 and 1943. Mills also took over as athletic director that year.

Joining Mathisen in 1942 to form "The Whiz Kids" were Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance, and Ken Menke. The teams of '42 and '43 captured the imagination of the entire nation, and to this day The Whiz Kids remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. The Kids dazzled crowds everywhere averaging 58 points per game, while most teams were averaging in the low 40s.

play, 17-1 overall. The lone loss was to Camp Grant at Rockford Dec. 21. Mills played mostly subs because he felt it would be better for the team to lose a game at some time.

The team was broken up March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces. All but Mathisen went on to play professionally, with Phillip becoming Illinois' only member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

Mills faced a major rebuilding job after the Whiz Kids departed. The 1944 team fell from the class of the Big Ten to 11-9 overall and 5-7 in the conference, good for sixth-place.

Mills' last season as head basketball coach coincided with four of The Whiz Kids' return from military service. The largest home crowd in Illinois history, 7,785, jammed into Huff Gym to see their return Dec. 6, 1946. The Whiz Kids only played the first half, building up a 49-13 lead on Cornell College. Two losses beginning the Big Ten race got Illinois into a hole out from which the team could never climb. The Fighting Illini won eight of their last 10 games, but could only climb to a second-place tie.

After retiring from coaching, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Illinois tabbed Harry Combes as Mills' replacement. Combes had been the head coach at Champaign High School. His success didn't end there. In his first nine seasons at Illinois he won three Big Ten titles and compiled an amazing record of 164-44 overall (.788) and 94-30 in the Big Ten (.758).

Combes' first team at Illinois, led by Dike Eddleman and Jack Burmaster, set a Big Ten scoring record with 1,530 points, en route to a 15-5 overall and 7-5 league finish.

The next four years would yield three Big Ten championships, and only 10 conference losses. In 1949, 1951, and 1952 Illinois would finish third in the NCAA, with the latter two clubs losing two-point decisions in the semifinals.

The 1949 team, led by Eddleman, Bill Erickson, and Walter Osterkorn, was Illinois' first 20-game winner since 1908, finishing 21-4. Illinois beat Yale, 71-67, to advance to a national semifinal showdown with Kentucky at Madison Square Garden in New York City. The Wildeats thumped Illinois, 76-47, forcing Illinois to defeat Oregon State, 57-53, in Seattle for third place.

A record for games won in a season was established in 1951, when Illinois went 22-5, including a dominating 13-1 in Big Ten play. Senior Don Sunderlage scored the most points by an Illinois player in a single-season netting 471 points, a 17.4 average. Illinois lost its only conference game at Indiana Jan. 15, 64-53, temporarily putting Illinois into second place. The Fighting Illini would win their next 10 games to beat out Indiana in the final standings by one game.

Illinois again traveled to Madison Square Garden for the NCAA playoffs, beating Columbia, 79-71, and North Carolina State, 84-70, to set up another semifinal battle with Kentucky. In one of the most heart-breaking losses in Illinois basketball history, Kentucky nipped the Fighting Illini, 76-74, on a shot by Kentucky sub Shelby Linville with 12 seconds remaining in the game. Illinois once again rebounded for third place three days later, beating Oklahoma A&M, 61-46, in Minneapolis.

The biggest story of 1952 was the emergence of newcomer John Kerr, a center from Tilden Tech in Chicago. Kerr began his three-year reign atop the Illinois scoring lead with a sophomore-record 357 points. Illinois again swept to the Big Ten championship and equalled the school record for wins in a season, this time going 22-4.

The Fighting Illini headed to Chicago Stadium for the NCAA regionals, beating Dayton, 80-61, and Duquesne, 74-68, to advance to the semifinals again. This time, Illinois ran into an underdog St. John's club. The Redmen fought and clawed their way to a 61-59 win in the NCAA's first Final Four, in Seattle. Once again, Illinois took third-place beating Santa Clara, 67-64, behind 26 points by Kerr.

The next four years characterized a series of near-misses for Illinois, which finished second in the Big Ten in '53, '55, and '56, and tied for third in '54.

Illinois' 10-4 conference mark in '54 was only good for a tie for third, but Kerr shattered Illinois' single-season scoring record by tallying 556 points in his senior year. He then departed on a 12-year pro career and became the first head coach of the Chicago Bulls in 1966.

The 1963 season produced Combes' fourth and last Big Ten championship and 20-win season, when it posted a 20-6, 11-3 record. Downey exploded for an Illinois single-game scoring record with 53 points in a road loss to Indiana, as well as set the Big Ten records for points and field goals in a game.

Illinois was a game back of first place with only two remaining when the Assembly Hall opened its doors for the first time March 4, 1963. Illinois beat Northwestern in an exciting 79-73 nail-biter before 16,137 frenzied fans to stay within a game of first-place Ohio State. Even after Illinois edged Iowa, 73-69, on the last game of the season, the Fighting Illini would need an overtime loss two hours later by the Buckeyes at the hands of Indiana to grab a share of the conference title.

Illinois then headed to East Lansing, Mich., for the NCAA playoffs. After beating Bowling Green, 70-67, Illinois was thumped by eventual national champion Loyola, 79-64.

The 1965 season began with one of the biggest upsets in Illinois basketball history. The Fighting Illini crushed defending national champion UCLA, 110-83, setting many Assembly Hall records. Combes would later call the game, "one of the best an Illinois team has ever played."

Combes' last season in 1967 was one of incredible ups and downs, highlighted on the court by a stunning, 98-97, overtime win over No. 3 Kentucky in Lexington Dec. 8. That year also included the uncovering of the "slush fund" scandal. Three Illinois players were disqualified as a result of the incident that eventually cost Combes his job.

Star Rich Jones, junior center Ron Dunlap, and valuable sophomore sub Steve Kuberski were suspended by the University of Illinois in the wake of the Big Ten investigation into illegal payments to the players.

Harv Schmidt, who played for the Illini in the 1950s, returned to Illinois to become head coach in 1968. Schmidt had been an assistant at New Mexico the three previous years but had no collegiate head coaching experience. His seven year-tenure began with much more success than that with which it would end.

The 1968 team was still stinging from the previous year and posted only Illinois' sixth losing season in history, going 11-13 overall and 6-8 in the Big Ten to tie for seventh place. The team won four of its first conference games, but lost seven of its last nine.

With the team's top five scorers returning, the Fighting Illini were expected to be better in 1970, but even Schmidt was surprised at the huge improvement that occurred. The club jumped to a 19-5, 9-5 record finishing tied for second in the conference. The performance earned Schmidt third place in National Coach of the Year balloting.

The 1970 team still finished tied for third place in the Big Ten, but its record fell to 15-9. Illinois began the conference schedule 5-0 to move into sole possession of first place at the semester break. However, the team would lose the next the five games to wipe out any chance of a conference title. That season Illinois set an NCAA attendance record, selling out all 11 home games in advance for an average of 16,128 fans per game. Students frequently camped out for tickets, and Schmidt encouraged the louder students to sit near the floor to help make more noise.

After 1970, things went downhill for Schmidt. Crowds shrunk, the state's best high school players began going elsewhere, the team lost more than it had in the past, and eventually the NCAA would put Illinois on probation.

The 1971 team became Schmidt's second team in four years to finish below .500 at 11-13, 5-9. The most pleasant aspect of 1971 was the arrival of forward Nick Weatherspoon from Canton, Ohio, who stepped right into the starting lineup to lead the team in rebounds. "Spoon" would go on to lead the team in scoring and rebounding the next two years before playing eight seasons in the NBA.

The 1974 season was a disaster. Illinois finished a dismal 5-18 overall and 2-12 in the Big Ten to tie for ninth place. Schmidt was fired in the midst of a record 11-game losing streak and wound up 89-77 overall in his seven years as head coach.

To replace Schmidt, Illinois looked to Memphis State head man Gene Bartow. He was building a reputation as a coach adept at building programs from the bottom up. Bartow came in promising big things, but only a year later he was gone, accepting the head coaching job at UCLA. In his only year at Illinois, he recorded an 8-18, 4-14 record, good for a tie for a ninth place in the Big Ten.

Illinois once again chose a coach known for turning losers into winners when it picked New Mexico State head coach Lou Henson. It took Henson a couple of years to establish his program in Champaign. The first three years were unspectacular, but paved the way for better teams to come.

The 1976 team finished 14-14 overall and 7-11 in the Big Ten. The '77 squad was 16-14, 8-10, and the 1978 team finished as Henson's only sub-.500 club (until 1991-92) at 13-14, 7-11. Despite the poor record, the 1978 team signaled the arrival of Eddie Johnson and Mark Smith, two players who would lead the team into the 1980s and pave the way for Illinois' return to national prominence.

In 1979, Illinois still finished seventh in the Big Ten but went 19-11, including an ascension to No. 2 in the nation after starting the year 15-0. Although the Fighting Illini went 4-11 from that point on, they still led the nation in defensive field goal percentage (.404).

With everyone back for 1980, Illinois recorded Henson's first 20-win season at 22-13 to tie the school record for wins in a season. Illinois made its first post-season appearance since 1963, finishing third in the NIT.

Bruce Douglas led the Fighting Illini in steals and assists in from 1983-86.

Illinois took another step on its ladder toward the national spotlight in 1981 when it appeared in its first NCAA Tournament since 1963. The Fighting Illini led the Big Ten in scoring for the second consecutive season and were again led by Johnson and Smith. Guards Craig Tucker and Derek Harper arrived to add backcourt punch, and Harper was named first-team Freshman All-America by ESPN and NBC.

In 1981, Illinois recorded its highest conference finish since 1973, finishing with a 12-6 Big Ten mark and a 21-8 overall record. That team was the best shooting team in Fighting Illini history with a .509 field goal percentage. The squad received a first-round bye in the NCAA tournament and beat Wyoming, 67-65, in Los Angeles to advance to the regionals in Salt Lake City, where the Illini lost to Kansas State, 57-52.

In 1982, Harper led the Big Ten in assists and steals, setting a school record for thefts with 67. By finishing 18-11 and getting another invitation to the NIT, it marked the first time in history that the Fighting Illini appeared in postseason play for three consecutive years. In smashing Long Island, 126-78, in the first round, Illinois set the mark for most points ever scored in a college postseason game. Dayton, however, beat Illinois, 61-58, for Henson's fourth non-conference loss at Assembly Hall in seven years.

One of Illinois' best groups of incoming talent ever arrived in 1983. Guards Bruce Douglas and Doug Altenberger, and forwards Scott Mcents and Efrem Winters joined sophomores George Montgomery and Anthony Welch to form the nucleus for a team that would win 95 games during the next four seasons.

The Fighting Illini became the 25th team to win 1,000 games in the second game of the year, beating Texas A&M in the Great Alaskan Shootout, 72-70. Harper fell one vote short of being named a unanimous All-Big Ten selection, before leaving school early for the NBA draft and becoming a first-round draft pick of the Dallas Mavericks. Douglas set school records for assists (189) and steals (78) in a season, as Illinois finished 21-11 and was beaten by Utah in the first round of the NCAA tournament, 52-49.

The only non-conference blemish of the '84 season was a thrilling 56-54 Christmas Eve loss to No. 1-ranked Kentucky at the Assembly Hall.

En route to a Big Ten title tie with Purdue, Illinois had four overtime games, one of which—a 75-66 win over Michigan—lasted an astounding four overtimes. The next game, a double-overtime win at Iowa, was Henson's 400th as a college coach.

Illinois headed to Milwaukee to beat Villanova in the NCAA tournament, 64-56. The Fighting Illini came from behind to defeat Maryland, 72-70, in the regional semifinals to set up a showdown with host Kentucky in the regional final. Illinois never led, but was within striking distance when a controversial foul called on Douglas put Wildcat guard Dickie Beal on the line to win the game, 54-50.

In 1985, Basketball Times picked Illinois No. 1 nationally in its preseason poll, but the Fighting Illini were upset twice in non-conference play. Illinois would head to Atlanta for the NCAA tournament after finishing second in the Big Ten with a 26-9, 12-6 record. Two wins over Northeastern (76-57) and Georgia (74-58) brought about a regional semifinal tilt with Georgia Tech. The Yellow Jackets used a 25-10 burst to begin the second half and beat Illinois, 61-53.

Junior-college transfer Ken Norman highlighted the '86 season, setting an Illinois all-time single-season field goal percentage record of .641. The Fighting Illini once again led the Big Ten in scoring defense, allowing opponents only 61.6 ppg. Again, Illinois went to the NCAA tournament, this time thrashing Fairfield, 75-51, in Charlotte, N.C., to set up a game with Alabama. The Crimson Tide built a nine-point lead at halftime and was able to hold off Illinois, 58-56, despite 18 points from junior guard Tony Wysinger.

With four four-year starters gone, Illinois had to replenish its troops and did so with an outstanding group of newcomers. Guards Steve Bardo, Kendall Gill, and Larry Smith joined forward Nick Anderson in a highly-touted recruiting class. The '87 team finished 23-8 overall and 13-5 in the Big Ten, good for fourth-place. Seeded third in the NCAA's Southeast Region, Illinois was beaten in arguably the school's most shocking upset ever, losing to unknown Austin Peay, 68-67.

Two first-year players led Illinois in scoring in 1988. Northern Illinois transfer Kenny Battle finally got to unveil his high-flying game for the Fighting Illini and averaged 15.6 ppg and 5.5 rpg. Anderson led the team in scoring at 15.9 ppg after sitting out the '87 season. Along with Gill, Bardo, junior forward Lowell Hamilton, and Smith, this team would lay the foundation for the spectacular '89 team. Included in the 23-10, 12-6, third-place finish was Henson's 500th victory.

Cincinnati was the site of the opening round of the 1988 NCAA tournament, and Illinois disposed of another relative-unknown, Texas-San Antonio, 81-72. A rematch with Villanova, to whom Illinois lost in Hawaii earlier in the year, ended with disappointment again, 66-63.

The 1989 team may very well have been the most talented teamever assembled at Illinois. It was comprised of all of the important pieces from '88, as well as junior-college All-American P.J. Bowman and former high school All-American Marcus Liberty.

The team shattered most of its all-time records, including most points in a season (3,110), most steals in a season (341), and most wins in a season (31), in addition to setting an all-time mark for points in a game in a 127-100 victory at LSU. The Fighting Illini won their first 16 games and were ranked No. 2 in the nation going into a nationally televised game against Georgia Tech, whom Illinois had already beaten, 80-75, at The Rainbow Classic in December. The Yellow Jackets led, 47-31, after scoring the first basket of the second half, but Illinois managed to surge back to force overtime, eventually needing two extra sessions to win the game.

Along with the No. 1 ranking the next day, Illinois found out that the club's catalyst, Gill, had broken a bone in his foot and would miss the next 12 games. Hurt by the loss of Gill, the team lost the No. 1-ranking and three of its next four games, but rallied to finish second in the Big Ten with a 14-4 conference record.

With Gill back in the lineup, Illinois was awarded the No. 1 seed in the Midwest region in the NCAA tournament and rolled to victories over McNeese State and Ball State at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis. A power-packed regional in Minneapolis, consisting of Illinois, Missouri, Louisville, and Syracuse, stood in the way of the Fighting Illini's first trip to the Final Four since 1952. Louisville fell victim to Illinois first, losing, 83-69, to set up a duel with Syracuse. The Fighting Illini held off the Orangemen to advance to Seattle where Illinois faced Michigan, a team it had already beaten twice that year. Despite Battle's 29-point, 11-rebound effort, Michigan defeated Illinois, 83-81.

In April of '89, high school All-American Deon Thomas signed a national letter of intent with Illinois. In the ensuing 17 months, Illinois was dragged through a grueling NCAA investigation which eventually found no major wrong doings in the Fighting Illini program, but resulted in a three-year probation limiting scholarships and recruiting severely.

On the court, Fighting Illini went 21-8 overall and 11-

7 in the Big Ten to tie for fourth place. Gill became the first player since Norman in '87 to average 20 ppg and was named first-team All-America by UPI. He was also a finalist for the John Wooden Award and was the fifth player chosen in the NBA draft that summer, going to the Charlotte Hornets.

Illinois seemed to be peaking going into the NCAA tournament, winning its last two games, a home dousing of Iowa, and a hard-fought win at Indiana, in which Gill became the first Illinois player to lead the Big Ten in scoring since Andy Phillip had done so in 1943. The Fighting Illini were seeded fifth in the Midwest region and headed to Austin, Texas, to face Dayton. In another big postseason upset, the Flyers stayed with Illinois the entire way and won, 88-86.

Going into the 1991 season no one expected much of Illinois. After losing Gill, Bardo, and Liberty, who declared himself eligible for the NBA draft a year early, Illinois was picked as low as ninth in the Big Ten by some publications.

Kendall Gill earned first-team All-America honors in 1990 after leading the Big Ten in scoring as a senior.

Junior forward Andy Kaufmann burst upon the scene scoring 660 points, the second largest single-season total in Illinois history. A three-game sweep of favored opponents LSU, Missouri, and Memphis State set the stage for the Fighting Illini's surprise tie for third in the Big Ten and a 21-10 overall finish. Thomas began his career, after sitting out 1990, scoring the most points ever by an Illinois freshman.

In 1991-92, the Fighting Illini took the court without a senior letterman for the first time in more than 50 years and saw their record dip below .500 for the first time since 1977-78 and only the second time in the Lou Henson era. Andy Kaufmann, the leading scorer from the previous year, had to sit out the entire year with academic problems, which only added to the Illini's woes.

The Illini's string of consecutive upper-division Big Ten finishes was snapped at nine as was their string of 20-plus victory seasons. Illinois' streak of plus-.500 Big Ten records also came to an end, at 11.

The return of Andy Kaufmann marked yet another turn-around for Illinois. After sitting out a season, Kaufmann helped lead the 1992-93 team to a 19-13 record. The team also notched its first NCAA-tournament victory since the 1989 "Flying Illini" visited the Final Four.

The Fighting Illini again advanced to the NCAA tournament in 1994, but the most memorable moment of the season occurred in early December when Deon Thomas broke a 13-year-old record and became Illinois' all-time leading scorer. Thomas scored his record-breaking 1,693rd point in the championship game of the Illini/Pepsi Classic and went on to finish the season with 2,129 career points.

Deon Thomas became Illinois' all-time leading scorer during the 1993-94 season.

Big Ten Medal of Honor

In 1914, the Big Ten Conference endowed a Medal of Honor, to be awarded annually at each institution to the student demonstrating proficiency in scholarship and academics. Beginning in 1982, a woman athlete from each institution has also been awarded the Conference Medal of Honor.

In the 76-year history of the award, 14 Fighting Illini basketball players have earned the award, including Edward A. Williford, the University of Illinois' first recipient of the award. There has been one father-son UI Medal of Honor duo, Lee Sentman (track) in 1931 and his son Lee Sentman III (fencing) in 1958. Gymnast Howard Beck (1974 and 1975) is the only two-time recipient of the award.

The following is the list of Illinois basketball players who have won the Big Ten Medal of Honor:

1915 Edward A. Williford	1942 William Hocking
1917 Clyde Godel Alwood	1943 Edwin S. Parker
1920 John B. Felmley	1945 Donald Delaney
1923 Otto H. Vogel	1949 T. Dwight Eddleman
1924 Walter Roettger	1953 Clive Follmer
1926 Doran T. Rue	1963 David J. Downey
1937 Harry Combes	1965 G. Bogie Redmon

Illinois Wooden Award Nominees

The John R. Wooden Award, first awarded in 1976, is presented annually to an outstanding basketball player. The award, named after the famous UCLA coach, is sponsored by the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Twelve candidates are selected by the club's National Advisory Board, according to the award's criteria, which includes a 2.0 cumulative grade point average. The winner is selected by votes from 1,000 sportscasters and writers from each of the 50 states.

1987 Ken Norman
1990 Kendall Gill

Kenny Battle Award

The Kenny Battle Award honors the former Fighting Illini forward who was known for his tremendous amount of effort exerted in games, as well as practices. The winner is chosen by the players and the coaches.

1989 Kendall Gill
1990 P. J. Bowman
1991 Andy Kpedi
1992 Rennie Clemons

Assembly Hall & Press Box

Entrance to Assembly Hall & Press Box — Properly credentialed media may enter the Assembly Hall through the "Press and Participants" door at the northeast lower entrance. Persons picking up credentials at the Assembly Hall will be required to furnish positive identification to the attendant. Media should proceed to room 123 where overcoats and personal items can be stored while the game is in progress. Media may also secure game programs, media guides and pregame information sheets. Please contact a member of the UI Sports Information staff if access to room 123 is needed during the game.

Courtside Photography

All photographers should report to room 123 of the Assembly Hall upon their arrival to receive a photo armband, to be worn in addition to the credential. All photographers must work from within the designated areas around the perimeter of the playing court. The University of Illinois follows NCAA and Big Ten guidelines regarding event photography. In the event of heavy demand for photo credentials for a particular game, shooting locations will be assigned.

Strobes — Photographers wishing to use strobe equipment at Illinois home games must make their requests known to the Illinois Sports Information staff at least one week in advance of the game for which they are needed. There is a nominal charge for installation and/or use of such equipment. A maximum of two strobe units may be used for any individual game.

Credentials

Press Box — All members of the media covering the game in a working capacity must seek appropriate credentials in advance from Mike Pearson, UI Sports Information Director. We would appreciate receiving these requests at least two weeks before the date of the game. Requests for working space in the press box, courtside photo passes and parking passes must be made on your affiliation's letterhead stationery. In the event of heavy demand for credentials for a particular game, requests will be prioritized according to published circulation numbers. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and children will not be permitted in the press box. Media agencies that violate this policy will not be issued credentials for future games.

Road-Game Credentials – Media credential requests for Fighting Illini road games should be addressed to the Sports Information Director of the host institution. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed.

Parking

A limited number of complimentary parking passes for the northeast quadrant will be issued to media for 1994-95 Fighting Illini basketball games at the Assembly Hall. The issuance of passes will be done on a priority basis, with University of Illinois beat reporters holding the highest priority. Requests will then be prioritized according to published circulation figures. A replacement pass will not be issued if the original pass is lost. Media personnel are strongly encouraged to arrive at least 45 minutes prior to tipoff, and to enter the northeast lot from Fourth Street. Media will not be admitted into the lots free of charge without a parking pass. Every attempt will be made to provide accredited media with a complimentary parking pass, but the number of passes is limited.

Pregame and Postgame Services

Play-by-play, halftime and complete final statistics, quote sheets, and pregame and postgame notes are all regular services on game day. Postgame information will be distributed to media at their position in the press box.

Postgame – Coach Lou Henson and selected UI players will be available approximately 10-15 minutes after the conclusion of the game, and will be brought to the Press Room (Room 123). The visiting coach and players are available, subject to their team's policy. Those interested in audio taping grouped interviews should connect their recorders to the distribution amplifier provided by Sports Information. Output from the device is microphone level, terminated in 1/8" two-conductor plugs and jacks, or three-pin standard microphone male connectors.

Telephones

Telephone lines in the press box must be ordered at least one week in advance of the game(s) for which they are needed. The orders should be addressed to Tony Mangano of Illinois Bell (312/727-5191) during regular business hours. No telephone lines or instruments are available through the UI Sports Information Office. Four charge-a-call phones are located in the center section of Row 1 in the press box. In addition, a pay telephone is located on the lower concourse of the Assembly Hall, near the East entrance.

Big Ten's "Fax-on-Demand" Service

Again in 1994-95, the Big Ten Conference will feature the "Fax-on-Demand" service. This unique service allows media members 24-hour access to the latest Fighting Illini basketball media releases, updated statistics, and box scores.

Hotel Rooms

The Sports Information Office has a limited number of rooms reserved in the Champaign-Urbana area. Please contact SID secretary Janice Revell at least one week in advance, and she will try to accommodate you.

Illini media releases will be available weekly on the "Fax-on-Demand." Please check the media calendar on pages 184-188 for specific dates and times.

Illini box scores will be available approximately 45 minutes following the conclusion of each game.

Updated Illini statistics will be available by 11 a.m. CT the morning after each game.

As is the case with the other 10 Big Ten Conference members, the University of Illinois will not be faxing its basketball releases to media personnel during the 1993-94 season. Media should use the "Fax-on-Demand" service. For more information, call either the UI Sports Information Office (217/333-1391) or the Big Ten Conference Communications Department (708/696-1010).

Illinois' men's basketball "Fax-on-Demand" codes are as follows:

- 1210 Entire Release Package (includes statistics)
- 1211 Statistics Only
- 1212 Game Notes
- 1213 Roster & Schedule
- 1214 Basketball Media Services
- 1215 Last Game Statistic Package.

Broadcast Services

A special feature of the UI Sports Information office is the Broadcast Services division, coordinated by assistant SID Dave Johnson.

A 10-minute weekly satellite feed, available every Monday (beginning Nov. 21) during the basketball season at 7:30 p.m. CT, via the Galaxy IV satellite, KU Band, Transponder 17-upper. The "trouble number" at WCLATV's master control is 217/373-3675.

Three-quarter-inch video dubs of each of the last five seasons of Illini basketball games are available. A very limited selection of archive video tape prior to the 1989-90 season is also available. At least one day advance notice of your video request will be appreciated. Call Dave Johnson at 217/333-1391 for more information.

Radio Programing

The "Illini Today" show airs Monday through Friday on each Illini Sports Network affiliate, and provides daily updates on UI athletics. "Classroom Champions" is a feature that airs at halftime of each basketball game and highlights the academic achievements of UI students. "Lou Henson Live," a call-in talk show airs each Monday on the network from 7:05 to 8 p.m. CT.

Lou Henson TV Show

This weekly 30-minute television program, hosted by Jim Turpin of WDWS Radio in Champaign, features game highlights and interviews with coaches, players and others involved in the Illinois basketball program. Viewers should consult their local listings for the days and times of the telecasts.

Media Luncheons & Teleconferences

All media personnel who regularly cover Illinois basketball are invited to these bi-weekly sessions, held at the Assembly Hall. Coach Lou Henson is available for interviews, as are opposing coaches (by telephone hook-up). The luncheons get underway at 11:30 a.m. CT and conclude at 1 p.m. Henson will be available via teleconference each week there is not a luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Check the dates and times listed on the media calendar on pages 184-188 for dates of luncheons and teleconferences or call the UI Sports Information Office for details.

Media Procedure for Interviews with University of Illinois Coaches, Athletes and Administrators

To facilitate the schedules of Division of Intercollegiate Athletics' (DIA) coaches and administrators and to expedite media requests, the University of Illinois Sports Information Office encourages media personnel to arrange interview requests through the Sports Information staff. Whenever circumstances prevent media personnel the time or opportunity to follow this procedure, DIA coaches and administrators are encouraged to accommodate media requests. This interview procedure is designed to enhance the availability of DIA staff members to answer questions from the media at a time which best facilitates each individual's schedule. Telephone calls to the homes of DIA staff members from the media may be made upon consent of the individual coach or staff member.

Interview requests from the media for University of Illinois student-athletes should be arranged through the Sports Information Office. Media personnel are asked not to call the student-athlete at his residence.

In most situations, the most convenient opportunity for media interviews is prior to the team practice sessions. If this is not a convenient time for the media, return telephone calls from the athletes to the media will be arranged. The student-athletes' academic endeavors are of the utmost importance, and they will not be asked to miss classes for purposes of a media interview. In most situations, student-athletes are not available on the day of scheduled intercollegiate competition until after the event is completed.

Illinois Sports Information Staff

MIKE PEARSON

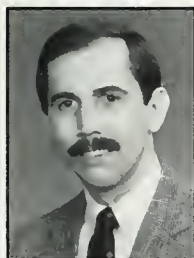

Mike Pearson began his sixth year as sports information director at the University of Illinois in 1994.

A 1975 graduate of Michigan State University, he earned a bachelor's degree in journalism while working as a student assistant in the MSU sports information office. Upon graduation, he joined Tab Bennett's sports publicity staff at Illinois as an assistant from 1975-79. Pearson then became athletic promotions director at Western Michigan University, serving in that capacity during the 1979-80 season. He rejoined his alma mater in 1980 as an assistant SID, continuing in that position until 1987, when he was promoted to MSU's assistant director of public relations for broadcast/marketing/photos.

Pearson, whose family includes wife Laura, sons Anthony and Thomas, and daughter Paige, hails from St. Johns, Mich.

DICK BARNES

Dick Barnes is in his ninth year as assistant sports information director at Illinois. He came to the University from Parkland College in Champaign, where he served as the school's first SID from 1981-86.

A 1975 Illinois graduate in radio/TV, Barnes worked with several radio stations in East Central Illinois before entering the sports information field. He served as acting SID at Illinois in the spring and summer of 1989, directing the school's media relations efforts during the "Flying Illini" basketball team's run to the NCAA Final Four.

Barnes, along with publications coordinator Julie Dalpiaz, received CoSIDA honors in 1992, 1993 and 1994 for those respective Illinois basketball media guides, all of which were judged best in District V.

A native of suburban Cleveland, Barnes lives in Urbana with his wife, Lynne, and their daughter, Jennifer.

KENT BROWN

Serving as an assistant sports information director is Kent Brown, now in his ninth year at Illinois and sixth as assistant director.

Brown, a former student assistant and graduate assistant in the UI sports information office, earned a B.S. in journalism from Illinois in 1987 and a

M.S. in sports management from Illinois in 1989. He has earned numerous citations for publication excellence from the College Sports Information Directors of America, including a second in the nation award for the 1988-89 basketball program series.

Brown and his wife, Robin, reside in Urbana.

DAVE JOHNSON

Dave Johnson is in his seventh year as an assistant sports information director, after joining the Illinois staff in 1988. He serves as associate producer for Illini television broadcasts on Raycom.

A native of Champaign, he earned his B.A. in speech communications from Illinois in 1986. He added an

M.S. in sports management from the United States Sports Academy in Mobile, Ala., in 1987, earning recognition as the top graduate in his class.

Johnson was sports director at WILL-AM/FM radio from 1983-86 and served an internship in the public relations office of the NBA's Detroit Pistons in 1984. Johnson has received nine CoSIDA citations for publications excellence.

A native and resident of Champaign, Johnson and his wife, Laurie, have three children, Matthew, Jennifer, and Ashley.

JULIE DALPIAZ

Serving as coordinator of publications for the Division of Interscholastic Athletics since September of 1990 is Julie Dalpiaz.

Prior to accepting her current position, Dalpiaz was sports information director at John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio, from 1986-1990.

She began her career in sports publicity as a student at the University of Dayton. Following her graduation from Dayton in 1984, Dalpiaz was a sports-writer for The News-Herald in Willoughby, Ohio. She earned her master's degree in sport administration from Kent State University in 1990.

More than 25 of Dalpiaz' publications have won awards in CoSIDA competition including the 1993-94 Illinois men's basketball media guide, judged best in District V, and the 1991-92 men's basketball program series, judged third best in the nation.

Dalpiaz resides in Urbana.

Illini Sports Network

The Illini Sports Network, under the direction of Will Tieman and TBC Sports in Champaign, is comprised of 55 stations around the state of Illinois for basketball.

Jim Turpin serves as the play-by-play voice of Illini basketball, a role he's had for most of the past 36 years.

A 1961 graduate of the University of Illinois, Turpin is vice president and general manager of WDWS and WHMS Radio in Champaign. He also hosts "Lou Henson Live," the network's weekly state-wide radio call-in show with the coach of the Illini, and "The Lou Henson Show," a weekly television show. Turpin also serves as co-host of the popular Saturday Sportsline on WDWS/WHMS Radio.

He's a past winner of the Illinois Broadcasters Association's Silver Dome Award, given to down-state Illini's best play-by-play broadcaster.

Loren Tate provides color analysis on Fighting Illini basketball radio broadcasts. Tate is the executive sports editor of the Champaign-Urbana News-Gazette, having covered Illini football and basketball for that newspaper since 1966.

Prior to assuming his position with The News-Gazette, Tate served as sports editor of the Hammond Times for 11 years.

A 1953 University of Illinois graduate, Tate's career also includes extensive experience in the electronic media. He was sports director for WICD-TV from 1969-79. Currently, he co-hosts the Saturday Sportsline talk show with Turpin on WDWS/WHMS Radio.
